CHEERING THOUSANDS TO WELCOME NATION'S CHIEF ON VISIT TO GLENDALE

Harding to Pass Under Triumphal Arch at City's Western Gateway; Traffic Barred From Line of Route by Mayor

By RALPH A. LYND
Of The Evening News Staff

FROM the minute President Warren G. Harding enters the southwestern limits of Glendale on Friday, August 3, until he passes out of the city at the eastern gateway, he will be greeted by a display of patriotic fervor that will mark the love and loyalty of a hundred thousand American citizens assembled to greet the head of the nation. At the point where Los Feliz road enters the city a triumphal arch will be erected by George Bentley and L. H. Wilson, appropriately decorated with a patriotic greeting, and from that point on he will pass through a lane of massed thousands gathered under waving flags, along Los Feliz road, Brand boulevard and Broadway to the eastern city limits, on his road to Eagle Rock and Pasadena.

SUFFOCATION THREATENS WORKMEN

Near Death as Dirt Wall at Excavation for Bank Caves in

Shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon the east wall of the excavations for the new six-story Security Trust & Savings bank branch at Brand boulevard and Broadway caved in on a group of workmen, entombing Foreman Barnard of the J. V. McNeil Company, general contractors, and burying one of the carpenters up to his shoulders.

While ambulances were rushed to the scene, a shovel crew toiled against time to free the trapped men before they were suffocated or crushed. Meanwhile several hundred people had gathered around the street level and were looking down on the dramatic scene.

It was fifteen minutes before Mr. Barnard was freed from the clutching sands, though his face was uncovered in two or three minutes after the accident. The balance of the time he stood there in the plain view of the gathering crowds above, smiling nonchalantly in spite of an occasional wince that betrayed his pain—while the spectators held their breath, not knowing what moment another deflection of the wall might hurl down upon rescuers and imprisoned men additional tons of crushing sand.

Not Seriously Hurt
It was with a chucked sigh of relief that the tight-packed soil was at last removed from Mr. Barnard and he was helped to safety. It was noticed that he was limped as he walked, but the ambulances were dismissed and he was taken home in a private car, it being evident that he had sustained no serious injury.

Alfred F. Priest, architect for the building, a well-known Glendale resident, states that the men were stretching lines to fit forms for footings when the cave-in occurred. The wall would have stood up, he says, had it not been that there was a refill of old cesspools at that particular point.

No Further Danger
The sub-suffocation commonly encountered in Glendale, Los Angeles and other sections of Southern California, Mr. Priest explains, is the cause of frequent cave-ins while excavating for large buildings. Sand, clay and gravel layers are encountered, and the vibrations of street cars and traffic make the gravel layer dribble out, causing the upper layers to slide.

This is precisely what happened yesterday afternoon at the Security bank excavations. The same thing, he says, has occurred in the construction of numerous Glendale buildings, within the last year or so.

Mr. Priest states that there is no danger of a further cave-in on the east wall, as an angle of repose has been reached, which will be re-inforced with a sheet-piling brace.

Manila Observatory Registers 3 Tremors
MANILA, P. I., July 14.—Three light earthquake shocks have been registered at the Manila observatory in the last 24 hours.

One of them apparently centered at the entrance of Manila bay while the others were centered about 2,000 miles distant.

New Record In Paid Attendance At Prize Fight

NEW YORK, July 14.—The Willard-Firpo bout established a new high paid attendance record for boxing in this country, according to official figures made public today by Tex Rickard, promoter.

The government tabulation showed 75,712 persons paid to see the match, 392 more than saw the Dempsey-Carpenter bout.

The gross receipts totaled $329,920.70. Of this Jess Willard gets $123,113, and Firpo $29,144.

Thousands of persons got in on passes, worked as employees or "crashed" the gates.

Twenty-third Homer

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—Cy Williams, slugging Philadelphia outfielder, ran his 1923 string of home runs to twenty-three here this afternoon when he sent one of Pitcher Barfoot's shots out of the park in the second inning of the St. Louis-Philadelphia game. The mark leads both leagues.

Plan to Scrap Ships

WASHINGTON, July 14.—After waiting for a year and a half for France to ratify the naval limitation treaty of the Washington conference, the United States took the first definite step toward the scrapping of American warships doomed by agreement with the world's other naval powers. High ranking officers of the navy were called into conference by Secretary Denby to work out detailed plans for disposing of the ships which the government has agreed to scrap.

Locate Bank Defaulter

CHICAGO, July 14.—His health broken from months of evading officers, his fortune swept away by the great expense to which he has been put, Warren C. Spurgin, fugitive Chicago bank defaulter, is in Mexico and arrangements are being made between the state department at Washington and the Mexican government for his removal and return here for trial.

The fact was disclosed here today when agents for an insurance company which had signed his bond, made it known that Spurgin had been seen recently in Mexico City.

BITTER WAR FOR SEAT IN SENATE

Minnesota Political Leaders Make Desperate Appeal To State's Voters

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 14.—The hot, three-cornered fight in Minnesota for the seat in the United States senate recently made vacant by the death of Knute Nelson drew to a close today with leaders of all parties making desperate appeals to voters to turn out.

Backers of Magnus Johnson, candidate of the Farmer-Labor party, which last fall elected Henrik Shipstead to the senate, today opened an attack on Republicans by charging them with responsibility for the appointment recently of John F. McGee to the federal bench in Minnesota.

Judge McGee has just finished sitting at a term of United States court in this city and has left the city yesterday morning for the rocky peninsula of the state of Alaska, where he is to serve as a judge.

40 Prisoners Escape In Dash for Freedom

CLOMEL, Ireland, July 14.—Forty members of the Irish republican irregulars, recently captured and escaped today from a guard of the regular army. They were being transported to another prison and surprised their guards in a dash for liberty as their train passed through a tunnel. One of the prisoners was wounded and recaptured.

ASKS $50,000 DAMAGE

CHICAGO, July 14.—Dr. Dal C. Billings, Jr., of Chicago, today appeared in court, asked for the service of papers on W. E. D. Stokes in a suit for $50,000 damages and departed immediately for the Hawthorne race track where he said Mr. Stokes had gone.

Joseph M. Olmsted, Age 87, Joins News' Sunset Club, Recalls Days Long Past

Youthful Of Voice, Bright Of Eye, Quick Step

A greeting to The Glendale Evening News' Sunset Club was brought to The Evening News office by Joseph M. Olmsted, 87 years of age, of 364 West California avenue.

With a youthful voice, bright eye and quick step for a man past four score years, Mr. Olmsted announced his visit to the office over the telephone and later appeared in person with an interesting sketch of his life written by himself in a style clearly legible. His greeting follows:

"Sunset Club, Greeting: I think it is quite an honor to be eligible to be a member of the Sunset Club, as it is a proof that you have been temperate and have observed the health laws ordained by the Creator, and have not paid a 'penalty' for the sins of your four great-grandfather. Gray hairs are said to be honorable, though I know some who prefer to dye."

Past, Present, Future
"Young men dream of their future and build castles in Spain." The middle-aged man is busy trying to meet the cost of high living and accumulate filthy lucre for the rainy season of life; old men dream of bygone days and talk of the time when boys did not smoke coffin nails or girls paint and wear high-heeled shoes, and auto-entertainment is so common that walking is nearly a lost art, unless you chase a small ball and try to get it into a small hole; a good amusement for the 400, who have time and Havana cigars to burn and hire a caddy to carry some clubs to hit the ball.

"I was born in Windsor, Conn., Sunday, May 2, 1836, in the age of the stage and tallow candle. Windsor was the first place to be settled by the English and was the native town of many noted men: Grants, Morgans, Ellsworths and many others were born there."

Meaning of Name
"Connecticut was an Indian name meaning 'Long River.' The water was pure, with no pollution, and was noted for its fine shade, that came from the ocean in the spring. Members of the legislature were called 'Shad Eaters.'"

"The capital building is one of the most beautiful of any in the United States, built on the site of Trinity College. Its gold-covered dome and electric lights can be seen from five states. The old charter is in one of the rooms. That was hidden in Charter Oak. Trinity College has just had its one-hundredth anniversary."

"At one time a part of this valley was a lake and traces are seen of the glacial age. The river rises

Heat and Wind Carry Forest Fire Threats

PORTLAND, Ore., July 14.—Forest fires are imminent in the northwest unless unusual care is observed by campers and woodsmen, the weather bureau reported today.

A scorching sun and wandering winds created a double menace and great areas of timber and brush are likely to be swept if a blaze is started, it was pointed out.

The mercury is expected to continue its upward climb and reach 95 degrees today—the record heat of the year here. Yesterday the thermometer went to 93 degrees in Portland. Medford registered 102 degrees, Walla Walla had 100 and The Dalles 103 1/2.

Chinese Plunder Home Of Foreign Resident

MANILA, P. I., July 14.—Foreigners in the Tugshan district, near Canton, China, were panicked last night, according to advices today by Chinese sources here, when a large gang of Chinese robbers carrying torches raided the house of a German resident, looting the property.

Chickens Become Thrilled When Friday, 13th, Comes

Even the hens at the Grant Stewart home, 515 West Elk street were thrilled over the fact that yesterday, Friday July 13, 1923, was the thirteenth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart.

Mrs. Stewart had planned to celebrate the thirteenth anniversary on Friday the thirteenth with an afternoon party for thirteen, and yesterday morning when she arose early to carry out her plans, she happened to pay a visit to three patient setting hens in the family chicken-yard and found that they had celebrated the day by hatching out thirteen chicks.

Who has just joined The Evening News' Sunset club. He is aged 87, but does not show his years.

thirty feet above the low-water mark in the spring and makes quite a lake.

"The Congregational church has the oldest organization in the United States."

"The good book says the allotted time of man is 70 years, and the limit is 80, I think. The Sunset Club should include all between 70 and 80 years and those past that be honorary ones."

Here For Eight Years
Mr. Olmsted resides in Glendale with his son, Henry J. Olmsted, and family, at 364 West California avenue. He has another son, Dr. George Kingsley Olmsted, in Denver, Colo. He also has four grandchildren, one grandson being Henry Ennis Olmsted of Glendale.

It was twenty-three years ago that Mr. Olmsted came to California, and he has resided in Glendale eight years.

The Glendale Evening News is proud to add Mr. Olmsted's name to the list of Sunset Club members and is hoping that during the summertime many sketches will be available of Glendale's interesting old people. Do you know of any old lady or old gentleman past 80 years of age? Find out some interesting things about them and phone to Miss Virginia Kay, Glendale 132.

BOBBY JONES LEADS ALL GOLFERS

Every Indication He Will Be Declared Winner of National Title

BULLETIN
INWOOD COUNTRY CLUB, FAR ROCKAWAY, N. Y., July 14.—Bobby Jones of Atlanta played his last round in the open golf championship this afternoon in 76 strokes for a total of 296 for the 72 holes of competition. It looked as if this would be the winning score as the other players in a position to catch Jones were going badly and the wind was getting stronger. Jones, after going out in 39, came back in 37.

By ROBERT E. HARLOW
For International News Service
INWOOD COUNTRY CLUB, FAR ROCKAWAY, N. Y., July 14.—Bobby Jones, regarded for several years as one of the foremost amateur golfers in the world, appeared this afternoon to be on his way to his first national championship. At the end of 54 holes of play in the open championship, the young Harvard sophomore from Atlanta was leading the field with 220.

Always Trying
Jones has been knocking at the door at the national championships ever since he made his debut as a "boy wonder" at the Marion Cricket club, Philadelphia, in the amateur championship of 1916, when he was only 14 years old.

Jones, this morning, picked up six strokes on Jack Hutchinson, the Chicago professional, who was the only man leading him when the day's struggle began.

Walter Hagen brought himself up among the leaders with a round of 73. His total of 225 put him five shots behind Jones.

C. C. DIRECTORS O. K. PARK PLANS

Plans for Dinner to New Members Perfected at Board Meeting

The directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, at their regular meeting last night, approved the plan submitted by H. M. Butts and the other members of the city planning committee, advocating the formation of a park opposite the proposed site of the new Southern Pacific depot, this action being taken without regard to the course adopted by the city council in purchasing the two lots close to the proposed depot site. The board also received and approved the report of W. L. Twining, chairman of the advertising committee, for the campaign that is to be launched for advertising the city in some of the leading newspapers of the Southland.

A letter was read from the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando Valley asking that a representative be appointed by the local organization to meet with the recently elected board of freeholders who will draw up a new charter for Los Angeles. Attorney Bert F. Woodward was named, and will meet with the other members of the committee at Owensmouth next Tuesday night.

Plans for the dinner that is to be tendered the new members of the Chamber of Commerce on Friday, July 20, were discussed, and the program was approved. Following a short meeting of the board of directors, the new members will be welcomed by Vice President W. E. Hewitt, and Councilman W. A. Horn will respond. An open forum meeting will then be held, and several musical selections will be rendered, the community singing being under the direction of R. Ernest Tucker.

Reservations for the dinner should reach Secretary E. F. Sanders by noon of Thursday, July 19.

Forest Fire Menaces New Hampshire City

SANDWICH, N. H., July 14.—With one dead and several others missing, this town was today menaced by one of the worst forest fires in recent years.

Nearly 7,000 acres have been devastated by the fire. Hundreds of volunteers were fighting desperately to save Sandwich. It is feared several of the missing may have suffocated. Damage already done to timber land runs into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Friday, 13th, Is Red Letter Day In Billie's Life

FRIDAY, the 13th, is a significant combination in the life of little eight-year-old Billie Bergstrom, although he is too young to place much credence in hoodoos or luck.

Friday, April 13, Billie was unfortunate enough to get his arms tangled up in some machinery while playing. He was hurried to the Glendale Research Hospital and it was feared that both hands would have to be amputated. Dr. T. C. Young of 620 East Broadway and Dr. C. W. Taylor of 111 East Broadway worked over the lad for several hours and finally were able to save his hands and a portion of his fingers.

Friday, July 13, Billie was the guest of honor in the banquet room of the Tuesday Afternoon clubbers at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Kiwanis Club.

Meanwhile, his hands have healed nicely and he is able to use his remaining fingers quite dextrously. He has even been in a fight!

Before the accident, Billie had but one set of parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Bergstrom of 3528 Casitas avenue, Los Angeles. He now has about ninety daddies—each of the members of the Glendale Kiwanis Club.

RUSH RELIEF TO STRICKEN TOWNS

$1,500,000 Blaze in Idaho Wipes Out Burke and Mace; Red Cross Aids

WALLACE, Idaho, July 14.—Steps were being taken today to provide relief for 1200 homeless residents of the towns of Burke and Mace devastated by flames yesterday and last night. The town of Burke was completely wiped out and there were only a few structures remaining standing in Mace when the flames were brought under control.

Damage was estimated today at $1,500,000.

The Red Cross today was providing temporary relief for the homeless and arrangements were being made to secure army tents to house those made homeless by the conflagration.

In addition to being made homeless by the fire, the destruction of the surface buildings of the Hecla mine removes the chief source of support of the male workers.

Mine Workers Escape
Between 200 and 300 workers in the Hecla mine reached the surface before the hoisting engines were destroyed. They had been summoned to assist in fighting the flames and this, fortunately, enabled all to reach the surface.

The flames originated in Mace and driven by a high wind spread quickly through the mining town and then, despite all efforts of fire fighters, sped up the narrow canyon to Burke located at the upper end.

Only a meagre water supply was available to fight the blaze and destruction of one of the reservoir flumes cut this supply in half. Dynamite was resorted to in an effort to halt the flames but the destruction of the wooden houses, which were dry as tinder, only served to add fuel to the roaring fire.

HARDING VISITS MINING REGION

Inspects Recently Completed Government Railroad On Trip Inland

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service
ANCHORAGE, Alaska, July 14.—From the sea coast country of Alaska with its bustling contact with the outer world, President Harding today plunged into the interior of the great northern territory for a look at the gold, copper and coal regions where engineering genius has wrested more than a billion dollars in wealth since the United States acquired the country.

The trip from Seward, the ocean terminal on Resurrection bay to Anchorage, the head of Cook Inlet, was made via the government railroad completed only a month ago at a total cost of $60,000,000. The presidential party reached Anchorage at 10 o'clock Friday night in broad daylight after a five hour ride.

SUPPORT WILL BE GIVEN IF PERMITTED CHANGES IN NOTE

Three Major Points Are Brought Out for Co-operation

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service
LONDON, July 14.—France has privately agreed to co-operate in England's reparations plan—provided certain conditions are met—it was reported today in diplomatic circles.

France is understood to have promised support of the British note to Germany if it includes:

First—A declaration against passive resistance and sabotage.

Second—Provision that the inquiry into Germany's affairs be conducted exclusively by the allied powers.

Third—Provision that the authority of the reparations commission be maintained.

France also is believed to have suggested that the allied supreme council be reorganized.

These proposals are at variance with the plan the British cabinet had in mind, according to those familiar with the "under coverings."

It had been the intention to include all neutral countries in the proposed commission to examine Germany's condition and fix the amount and terms of reparations. The Daily Express said today that the "ultimate British plan" provides for a thorough overhauling of Germany's finances; stabilization of the mark; full guarantees for reparations; an international loan for Germany supported by England and the United States.

Insists Upon Dues

INDIANAPOLIS, July 14.—"We are now in the Ruhr under the same conditions as were the Germans in 1921 when they occupied part of France," General Henri Gournaud declared today at the fifth annual reunion of the Rainbow division being held here.

"Just as they did not evacuate French territory until after we had paid the five milliards, exacted so will France and Belgium stay in the Ruhr until Germany pays her debt," the much wounded French hero declared.

As the victor nation in a struggle unjustly imposed upon it, Gournaud said France will insist upon having her due and he continued, "as at Verdun we are determined to hold fast, and we have, my comrades, the support and help inspired by the spirit of justice of the American people."

General Pershing, commander of the American Expeditionary Forces, also was a guest of honor at the Rainbow veterans' session today.

SEARCH FOR MAN IN MURDER CASE

Fred Oesterreich Slaying May Have Been Result Of Pact, Say Officers

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—Developing new information indicating the slaying of Fred Oesterreich, wealthy manufacturer, may have been the result of a "murder pact," in which Mrs. Oesterreich, formally accused, may have figured, police today instituted search for a man, who formerly lived in Milwaukee, but who now is said to be in Los Angeles, as the second chief actor in the crime. This mysterious so-called accomplice is alleged to have known the manufacturer before he came to Los Angeles.

As a direct contrast to her condition yesterday, Mrs. Oesterreich was smiling and more self possessed today.

The "love element" as a possible motive for the slaying has not been discarded by the police and their search for a so-called "mystery man" in the case has been stimulated by alleged discrepancies in Mrs. Oesterreich's statement of the tragedy and the public identification of two men who said she gave them each a revolver to dispose of.

Harry Glazier of 204 1/2 West Windsor road is at Santa Monica enjoying a few weeks in the salt air. His mother Mrs. Dora Glazier went down Friday night to join him for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Thompson of 348 Milford street and H. V. Brummels of 415 West Wilson avenue are among the Glendadians enjoying camping and fishing trips in the country near Bishop.

Misses Mabel and Mildred Engelbrecht of Elgin, Ill., are guests at the home of Miss Louise Achard of 1136 Scofield drive. They plan to visit here during the month of July.
Mr. and Mrs. John H. Southard of 341 West Doran street, who are on a month's motor trip as far north as British Columbia, write of a recent visit in Seattle, Washington. They tell of much rain in the northern city.

Mrs. Blake Franklin of 317 West Lexington drive and friends Mrs. Snow and Miss Sarah Grogan of Washington, D. C., are expected to return to Glendale on Sunday from Big Bear Lake, where they have been spending a pleasant week's vacation.
E. S. May of Portland is now visiting three brothers in Glendale: J. C. May of 617 South Pacific avenue, E. F. May and W. S. May. The latter two have recently moved into new homes near the intersection of Sycamore Canyon road and Chestnut street.

Mrs. Julius J. Luedke of 635 North Columbus has just returned from a visit to San Francisco, and will leave next Sunday for Big Bear Lake, where she will be joined by several young women from Los Angeles who will enjoy the hospitality of her cabin.

Miss Marjorie Imler of 334 West Park avenue entertained Wednesday night in honor of the Misses Jeanne and Ruth Rhoades of Mexico City and Misses Anne Stephenson and Marian Robinson of Vacaville. The young women are members of the Sigma Kappa sorority.

Miss Irene Schindel of 1375 North Columbus avenue, who is enjoying a pleasant vacation, camping in the Topanga canyon, entertained a dozen friends at a beach party last Thursday night. The affair included a huge bonfire and a wienner bake on the sands at Santa Monica Palisades, Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. James Goldsmith, who arrived recently from Canada and have been making their home at 309 Pioneer drive, left recently for San Pedro where Mr. Goldsmith, who is an expert accountant, has accepted a position. They regret leaving Glendale and would prefer making their permanent home here, and are hoping that business openings will in time permit them to return.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Crawford of 1116 South Glendale avenue, had the pleasure of entertaining at their guests yesterday Miss Margaret Smith, Miss Noel, Miss Sively all of Canton, Ohio. Several years ago they were neighbors of the Crawford's when all lived in Malvern, Ohio. They are all three teachers in the Canton schools and are leaving tonight for Yosemite National Park en route to their homes.

Delos H. Smith, manager of the Brand boulevard branch of the Pacific Southwest Trust & Savings bank at 104 North Brand boulevard, was a cousin of Mr. Roy E. Knox of Los Angeles, a cousin of Mr. Parker, was a dinner guest Tuesday night of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Parker at their home, 221 North Central avenue. Mrs. Parker will leave next Monday for Santa Barbara, where she will be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. E. H. Lyman.

All Day Meeting
The Women's Union of the First Baptist church held their regular all-day meeting last Thursday, July 12, at the church. The morning hours were devoted to sewing. Luncheon was served at noon which was followed by a short business meeting at 2 o'clock presided over by the president, Mrs. Park Arnold. Later in the afternoon the missionary play, "Wait a Minute," which has been causing considerable interest, was presented under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Sisley. This proved an unusually enjoyable program. Those taking part in the play were Mrs. J. R. Bright, Mrs. Grigg, Mrs. Walter Stamps, Mrs. Robert Ford, Mrs. Skaggs, Mrs. C. B. Eddings, Mrs. Fred Abbey, Mrs. J. R. Bentley, Mrs. A. J. Maxwell, Miss Mary Anderson. The children taking part were: Helen Bentley, Pauline Hatch, Margaret Chase, Marion Maxwell, Melvin Skaggs and Wayne Wonscott.
Upon request this play will be repeated at the church on Wednesday evening, July 18.

Recital Success
A large enthusiastic audience attended the recital given last night at the First Baptist church by the pupils of Mrs. E. M. Biehl and Miss Susan Frances White under the auspices of the R. T. W. classes.
The program consisted of piano, organ, readings, and piano selections, which were rendered in a professional manner.
Mrs. E. M. Biehl, teacher of expression and Miss Susan Frances White, teacher of piano have just recently opened a studio in Glendale at 311 Griswold street. They have maintained a studio in Los Angeles for several years and upon receiving so many requests have opened a complete studio here.

Home From East
Dr. Jessie A. Russell of 208 South Brand boulevard returned last Monday from a three weeks' trip east and has been busy this past week greeting her many Southern California friends and telling them of her trip.
She went east to Cincinnati, Ohio, as representative of the Glendale Realty board at the national realty convention. She also attended to business matters in Washington, D. C., and Chicago and en route home stopped in Kansas City and Ogden.

ward, was visited yesterday by J. A. Gelmere of Los Angeles, and Roy Dosh, who is visiting from the middle west. All were friends in Stuart, Iowa.
Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Weller have moved from 312 East Wilson avenue to 1012 East Lexington drive.
Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Kase of 331 North Isabel street, and Mr. and Mrs. James Wyrwoll of 1215 North Brand boulevard, left Saturday morning via automobile for Yosemite National Park, San Francisco, and the Big Trees. They expect to be gone about a month.
W. W. McElroy of 510 South Adams street, accompanied by George Woodbury, left today for a three months' motor trip north and east. They plan to go as far north as Vancouver, then east to Lake Louise and other points in Canada. They will also visit Yellowstone and Glacier National parks before returning home.
W. E. Hewitt of 319 Randolph street spent a portion of this week in San Diego. He was accompanied to Coronado by his sister, Mrs. George B. Fleming and her three children, Mary, Anne, Martha, and Tommy. During their absence George B. Fleming made further plans to move into a new home at 305 Stocker street. The family recently arrived from Kitting, Pa.
While enjoying a ride on a merry-go-round at Brookside park Friday, Dickie Mitchell, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Mitchell of the Richardson district, had the misfortune to fall off and injure one of his legs so severely that it was necessary to take him to a physician in Pasadena and have several stitches taken in the laceration. It was necessary to give him an anesthetic.
Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett of 333 West Broadway have just returned from a two weeks' outing at Camp Curry, Yosemite valley. During their stay at the resort they met many Southern California friends, with whom they enjoyed sightseeing trips about the valley. They state that the present season is one of the largest in the history of the camp, 10,000 automobiles filled with vacationists have already been registered.
Mr. and Mrs. Ed M. Lee of 345 North Belmont street returned home Wednesday from a trip to San Francisco and Yosemite valley. In the valley they joined Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lee of 1015 East Lexington drive, and Mrs. Gertrude Ballard and daughter, Marion, of Eagle Rock. They tell of a fine summer outing in the valley. Mr. and Mrs. Lee returned home on the train and the W. E. Lees and Mrs. Ballard and daughter motored down through the Redwoods and will arrive home this evening.
C. F. Parker of 221 N. Central avenue accompanied by Henry Morrissey and Jack Johnson, have just returned from a trip to San Francisco where they went on matters concerning the Van Nuys property. The trip was made by auto. Roy E. Knox of Los Angeles, a cousin of Mr. Parker, was a dinner guest Tuesday night of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Parker at their home, 221 North Central avenue. Mrs. Parker will leave next Monday for Santa Barbara, where she will be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. E. H. Lyman.

Presides at Club
The Parliamentary Law Study Club held its regular meeting Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the Glendale Public Library with the president, Mrs. C. M. Whitney, in charge.
At this meeting five new members joined. They were Mrs. T. Curtis, Mrs. Grace Barbelt, Mrs. L. M. Killinger, Mrs. A. R. Burton and Mrs. Angier.
Mrs. P. S. McNutt was a special guest at the meeting and gave a very helpful talk regarding the method of studying parliamentary law. Mrs. McNutt is an authority on this subject and her suggestions were gratefully received.
Inasmuch as the club is growing so in numbers, it was decided advisable to elect a manager. Mrs. A. H. Brown was so elected and will hold this office until fall. When the club will adjourn. Mrs. O. H. Spalburg was also elected sergeant-at-arms.
Under the leadership of the instructor, Mrs. Opal Greenwalt, the study of the "Efficient President" was taken up. The principal feature of the organization of the club is for the benefit to be derived by the presidents and officers of the various local Parent-Teacher associations and other clubs and organizations.

Regular Meeting
The members of the Women's Relief Corps held their regular semi-monthly meeting yesterday afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock in the G. A. R. Hall with the president, Mrs. Flora Pixley in charge.
At this time two new candidates were initiated. They were Mrs. La Frank and Mrs. Carlotta Newcomer. Several candidates were also balloted on.
Plans were completed for the joint outing of the W. R. C. and G. A. R. to take place on Friday, July 27, in Echo Park, Los Angeles. Further announcement of the details will be made at a later date.

Enjoying Summer
Mr. and Mrs. Warren Roberts of 617 East Elm avenue are enjoying many summer social activities, entertaining Mr. Roberts' mother, Mrs. W. H. Roberts, who arrived recently from the east for the summer at her son's home.
Last night Mr. Roberts and his guests motored to Los Angeles to attend a family dinner at the home of a cousin, Mrs. Vern Martin. Today they spent the day at the beach.
A big family reunion and picnic dinner will be enjoyed by the Roberts and Archer families tomorrow in Griffith park.

Wed This Morning
At an early morning ceremony today, Saturday, July 14, 1923, at the Central Avenue Methodist church parsonage, Miss Emily Jeffery, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Jeffery of 604 West Vine street, became the bride of Paul L. Elliott, son of the late Rev. A. M. Elliott and Mrs. Lydia W. Elliott of 353 Oak street.
Rev. V. Hunter Brink performed the ceremony at 8 o'clock, with Miss Jeffery's sister, Miss Winnie Jeffery as the only witness.
Mr. and Mrs. Elliott left immediately for a motor trip to San Diego. Upon their return they will reside at 353 Oak street.
Mr. Elliott is in the contracting business in Glendale.

Lodge Visitors
A pleasurable part of the meeting last night of Glen Eyrie chapter, Eastern Star, in the Masonic temple, was the presence of a large group of visitors from other states. These guests were asked to introduce themselves and the lodges and states represented was most interesting.
During the evening two candidates were initiated and after the meeting a social hour enjoyed, with Mrs. Lillian Buckham as chairman of the social committee.
The lodge social club will meet next Wednesday at the temple.

Enjoyable Outing
A number of the members of Troop One, Glendale Girl Scouts, and friends, enjoyed an outing yesterday in Brookside park. Assembling at 2:30 at the home of the captain, Miss Sharpe, they motored to the park. Swimming in the plunge was the chief pleasure of the afternoon. A picnic supper was served at 6 o'clock.

City Officials Meet
At L. A. Conference
Fifty officials representing practically every community in Los Angeles county met for a dinner last night at the City club in Los Angeles, after which they discussed municipal affairs.
Glendale was represented by City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy, Hugh Pomeroy of Redondo Beach presided. Notes of the proceedings were taken by the Regional Planning commission of Los Angeles county.
Uniformity of requirements for approval of new subdivisions was the principal topic of discussion. It was agreed that uniformity in regard to the size of lots, streets and alleys, parkways, street work and all proceedings connected with adopting new real estate tracts would be desirable.
Zoning ordinances affecting subdivisions were commented upon also. There was some discussion about congestion caused on county roads by cross-roads markets. It was the opinion that a county ordinance should require these to be placed at least forty-five feet from the center of the highway.

Local Yachtsmen May Take Trip to Hawaii
The Southern California Yachting association is now planning a regatta to Honolulu. Among those who left Wilmington this morning on board yachts for Santa Barbara were W. C. Waring of 719 South Maryland avenue and Claude Putnam of 424 North Glendale avenue, both of whom are looking forward to a possible voyage to Hawaii.
Mr. Waring, who is associated with Stephen W. Huntington in the operation of the Army and Navy store at 201 South Brand boulevard, is full of nauticism. He owned his own yacht in Oyster Bay, New York, before coming west, and was a member of the Harlem Yacht club.
A race to Honolulu will start from Santa Barbara about next Saturday. The voyage each way is expected to take about eleven days. One of the reasons Mr. Waring thinks that he will take the excursion is because Gypsies told him Friday noon that he gas "going on a long journey."

BIRTHS
A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tasker of 522 West Harvard street, early this morning, Saturday, July 14, 1923, at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.
A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. Lee of 219 Castle street yesterday afternoon, Friday, July 13, 1923, at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Seconds in Plumbing Fixtures Save Costs
A solution of the plumbing problem with regard to costs for the average home builder or owner is suggested by the sale of plumbing fixtures, which is now in progress at Griffith's Economy Shop, 806-808-810 South San Fernando Road.
In a display announcement published several days ago by Mr. Griffith in The News, the discrimination between firsts and seconds in plumbing fixtures was pointed out. Mr. Griffith asserts that in many instances the second is just as good as the first, insofar as service is concerned.
Any fixture that is slightly marred or that varies in the least from the standard dimensions is a second, he said. A saving of 25 to 35 per cent is realized on the purchase of this class of plumbing fixtures and without the possibility of inferior wear, it is stated.

LIP READING CLASS
Miss Mary Rice, who taught the high school lip reading class the past year, announces that she will meet her pupils Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the basement of the Christian church.

MINOR OPERATION
A minor operation was performed upon Miss Maude Huse of 1266 Oakridge drive this morning at the Glendale Research Hospital.
and the party returned at an early hour.
Those participating were Misses Mary Stanley, Sarah Chandler, Alice Carpenter, Carolyn Ayars, Katherine Beder, Frances Betz, Marjorie Hart, Marjorie Temple, Wilma Gosser, Gladys Sharpe; Mrs. L. A. Hart, Mrs. Chas. A. Temple. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Stanley.

Ice Cream Social
The ice cream social given last Friday night at the Pacific Avenue Methodist church under the auspices of the J. O. C. class as a benefit for the furnishing fund for the parsonage, proved an unusually enjoyable affair.
During the evening a pleasing program was presented consisting of readings by Miss Frances Hobensack, vocal solos by Miss Dona Wilson, and duets by Miss Sarah Hommer and Mrs. Charles Rowe.
Part of the social program of the evening included a street guessing contest which caused considerable amusement. Mrs. Chester Brown was awarded first prize for guessing the largest number of names correctly.
The fortune telling booth in charge of Mrs. E. B. Adams and the candy booth in charge of Miss Laura Skelton proved popular features of the evening.
Ice cream, strawberries and cake were served during the evening at a nominal charge.

HOME OWNERS ARE NATION MAKERS

—You can safely judge a city, state or nation by its homes—

—Because, distinctive, well planned homes reflect the spirit, pride, prosperity and permanence of its people.

—Whenever you see a community of home-owning citizens where pride is taken in keeping all improvements in perfect repair, well painted, with surroundings attractively landscaped, lawns, flowers, trees and shrubbery, a longing comes to you to become one of them. You know from experience that complete harmony exists in such a community, and that there is a unity of thought for general civic attractiveness, high moral codes and progressiveness that builds not only ideal homes, but modern churches, schools, public buildings, etc., making that city or town an ideal place in which to live. Selfishness is a forgotten thought—co-operation is their motto, where all place their moral and financial support back of projects to make them a reality.

It Isn't Your Town—IT'S YOU

If you want to live in the kind of a town
Like the kind of a town you like.
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike.
You'll find elsewhere what you left behind.
For there's nothing that's really new.
It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town.
For it isn't your town—it's you.
Real towns are not made by men afraid
Least somebody else gets ahead;
When everyone works and nobody shirks
You can raise a town from the dead.
And if, while you make your personal stake,
Your neighbor can make his, too,
Your town will be what you want it to be.
For it isn't the town—it's you.

CAR THEFTS TOTAL NEW FIGURE; OWNERS SHOULD TAKE OUT PROTECTION

More Than 2,000 Machines Are Stolen In Los Angeles County During Six Months. Ending With June

ALL records for automobile thefts in Los Angeles county have been broken during the six-month period ending with June, a total of 2,280 cars, with a valuation of $2,200,000, having been taken from the streets and highways.

According to the theft bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California, from which this information is issued, last year's record is put in the shade by this new total of thefts, the number of machines taken during a corresponding period last year being 1,300, with a valuation $1,000,000 less than the present high-water mark.

Of the 2,280 cars stolen so far in 1923, there have been but 400 recovered, contrary to the popular notion that practically all machines taken get back to their owners. In other words, motorists of Los Angeles county are out of pocket nearly $1,000,000 so far this year, on cars that have been "successfully" stolen.

Gross carelessness on the part of the motoring public is given by the automobile club and the police department as the prime reason for the high theft rate.

Many Are Careless

"People have a notion they can just leave their machines anywhere, without locking them or taking any ordinary precautions against their theft," states M. B. Towman, manager of the Glendale office of the club. "The sooner they realize they must protect an automobile against theft just as though it were that much gold coin, the sooner this epidemic of car theft will pass."

During the month of June, this year, official figures show, 350 automobiles were stolen in Los Angeles county, as against 190 during the same month, last year. And on July 4, alone, thirty-five cars disappeared.

A provision of the new motor vehicle act, effective September 1, will greatly lower the theft rate, it is believed. This provision compels all private garage owners to report to the police the renting of said garages. In this way the thieves will no longer be able to conceal stolen cars in private garages, while the Police department and Automobile club are hot on their trail.

Must Keep Records

All owners of public garages, moreover, are compelled by the new act to keep accurate records of cars stored with them, a provision which will afford detectives a check on stolen cars and tend to eliminate their concealment right under the very noses of the officials, as in the past.

It is pointed out that the thieves rarely steal a car that has been standing more than ten minutes. They have "deputies" or "patrols" to line up cars that have just been parked—and their plan is to make off with such a car immediately the owner has stepped from view, thus eliminating the chance of the owner reporting.

YES, WE HAVE NO PEACHES, BUT LOTTA CANS, HE DECLARES

Saving Sam Says He Is Not In Grocery Trade, Despite 'Looks'

"Have you canned peaches?" was the question a dear old lady asked Claude Roudesh, manager of the Western Auto Supply store here at 207 South Brand boulevard.

She was gazing intently at the nice array of "canned goods" the Saving Sam organization has parked on shelves in the north side of its store room.

To look at the stock a person would imagine they were in a grocery, no doubt, but neither food nor drink is to be found there. Everything from soap to lubricants comes in standard packed cans, however, making convenient for the motorist to carry along supplies on a trip.

Perhaps the day will come, however, when the Western Auto Supply will furnish everything from "soup to nuts" for camp cooking. If the demand for canned peaches, beans, etc., develops.

Auto Makers Are in Fine Financial Health

Commenting on the present business situation, Automobile Topics declares that "the larger companies have little or no bank debt or borrow money even after large expansion programs have been completed," and quotes President Clark of the First National Bank of Detroit as saying:

"The companies have come through their spring harvest with enviable profits and face the normally quiet summer season with unprecedented orders. Leading companies are in excellent financial health."

WINDOW GUARD

A folding metal guard that can be moved from one window to another readily to keep children from falling out also is strong enough to prevent burglars entering.

Club Offers Suggestions To Cut Down Accidents On Suburban And City Roads

COPLESS traffic jams—traffic tangles where there are no traffic officers on hand—are causing a lot of worry to auto owners throughout the country, as well as to pedestrians and others, and a few well-aimed words of advice have just been issued from the Automobile Club of Southern California, in its general plan to make the suburban roads and city streets safer for humanity.

It is the reckless and heedless auto driver who "busts" into a street or road intersection with little thought of how badly he may tangle up motor travel in that vicinity, say club officials.

When you approach a busy crossing, the best thing to do is to stop, look, and listen. It is really just as important as it is to stop, look, and listen at railway grade crossings. Size up the condition of traffic at the road or street intersection—be sure you are right, and then go ahead, urges the auto club.

If you are going to turn to the right, then edge over near to the curb on your right hand. If you are going to turn to the left, then edge over toward the left of your side of the street, and, if you are going straight over the intersection, then steer a middle course.

A lot of bad traffic tangles are caused by motorists trying to make their turns from the wrong position. Just keep in mind when you approach a busy intersection that you should come up to it in the right position, and then you will not cross in front of other people who are also trying to reach their destination. Don't blow your horn off trying to hurry the other fellow ahead of you. Don't go into the tangle so fast that you cannot back up a little bit and make room for somebody else to get by, in case it would help unravel the snarl.

Don't plow ahead regardless of everything, shoving your way in where angels fear to tread. If you get too close to the man ahead of you, then he will be unable to back up and relieve the congestion, and there you will sit until some soft-hearted individual gets out of his car and tries to untangle the bunch, is the final word of club warning.

GLENDALE NOW HAS MOTOR TRUCK PLANT TO CALL ITS OWN

Factory Under Way Here To Place on Market Rogers Unadrive

Glendale has long claimed part possession of the Moreland Motor Truck manufacturing plant, which lies at the northwestern city limits, part in Los Angeles county and part in the City of Burbank.

Now this city has a motor truck manufacturing plant all of its own at the foot of Colorado street along the Southern Pacific right of way. It is the Rogers Unadrive truck, which gets its traction on all four wheels.

The new principles have been worked out in a small factory at Sunnyvale and a complete new plant is being built here to put the truck on the market in large numbers.

With the Moreland and Rogers plant in this vicinity, Glendale bids fair to become the center of motor truck industry on the Pacific coast.

Increasing Demand for Used Cars in North

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—"Gone fishing" might well be the sign hung out by hundreds of automobile men in this part of the state. June finished with a bang, but not quite so loud a bang as May, which was a record month for automobile sales.

The automobile men have come to think in terms of records, and then when a month comes along where they do not exceed the record of the previous month they think they are in hard luck.

The most encouraging thing in this part of the west is the increasing demand for used cars of all kinds, which really shows the measure of prosperity. It means that wage earners are employed and buying cars. This lowers the inventory of the dealers and allows them to go on, selling new cars. When used cars do not sell, new ones cannot be delivered because 99 per cent of sales now involve the trade in of a used car as part payment on a new one.

FIGURES SHOW DENSEST MOTOR POPULATION IN U. S. IS IN THIS STATE

One Car for Every 4.09 Persons, According to Survey; Success In Life Comes More Quickly If You Have Automobile

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff

EVERY family in California has an automobile, on an average, according to a survey of the United States just completed by the automotive industries. The figures show the densest motor population of the country to be in this state, where there is one car for every 4.09 persons.

As the average American family consists of four and California is no exception to this rule, every household that isn't at least the registered owner of some sort of motor vehicle can be sure their loss is someone's else gain.

In other words, if you haven't a little auto—or a big one!—tucked away somewhere within easy reach, you aren't average.

Of course, the above figures include trucks, delivery and dispatch cars, and in fact all manner of commercial and industrial vehicles, as well as pleasure cars. But that doesn't alter the fact any, that if you live in California and are unblest of an auto as the fifth member of your family, you aren't keeping up with the Joneses.

What Survey Shows

To understand the popularity of the motor car in this state, compare the statistics of one machine here to every 4.09 people, with figures for the United States in general, as furnished by the automotive industries, of one machine to every 8.5 people.

The survey goes on to show that motor vehicles of all descriptions, as registered throughout the country on July 1, 1923, showed the staggering total of 13,048,128, or a gain of 2,440,000 in the last twelve months alone, which is about 23 per cent.

At an average valuation of $1000 per vehicle, the total wealth rolling around on rubber, in the United States, at the present time, is $13,048,128,000; and California's highways are the open-air vault whereon is deposited over $1,000,000,000 of this rolling capital.

Huge Valuation

The total valuation of cars manufactured in this country, during the fiscal year just passed, on the basis of $1000 per car, was $2,440,000,000. Was yours one of those $1000 sums that went to swell that total?

If not, you are either a member of the great holding company of Californian motorists who already had made such an investment, or you are missing something vital in the Twentieth Century life of the Pacific Southwest.

For, in this modern age, you are not a complete human without a car. One is almost as necessary as an arm or a leg, and certainly of greater importance than a hat!—and yet many a man will run around without an auto who wouldn't think of doing without his top-piece.

Ready to Serve

Some folks have the idea that unless engaged in a business or profession that requires a motor car, it is unnecessary to have one.

WOMEN CAUSE COLOR EFFECTS GOOD HIGHWAYS LURE TOURISTS

Milady's Influence Being More Widely Felt Each Year in Industry

NEW YORK, July 14.—"The growing influence of women on motorcar buying has caused American manufacturers within the past year to use lighter and gayer colors in cars," said Hazel H. Adler, nationally known color authority, today.

There has been a greater increase in the use of bright color schemes in automobiles during the past year, than in ten previous years combined. In fact, every "Main street" now looks as though the rainbow had been harnessed in the shape of American-made motorcars.

"Ever since the automobile shows last January," continued Mrs. Adler, "dealers have had great difficulty in holding on to sample cars which were painted in new color effects. Cars with bright colored wheels, gay colored panels or many colored stripings remained on the floor for but a few hours, when insistent buyers, usually accompanied by their wives or daughters, demanded prompt delivery of that particular car or 'one just like it.'"

"Car manufacturers got busy. Even the big producing organizations were soon in the swim, and pretty soon we saw a range of maroon, creams, grays, reds and primrose yellows."

Study Motor Law, Is Warning to Drivers

That motor tourists will do well to be on their guard this summer against more rigid enforcement of laws on the part of petty officials is the keynote of a statement issued by Executive Secretary Fred Caley of the National Motorists' association at the close of a tour of a number of states in the interests of the N. M. A.

To insure the trip against trouble motorists are urged to allow a safe margin by seeing to it that they carry their license certificates with them; that they use headlights on lenses universally approved, and that they make sure their speedometers are accurate.

KNOW THIS ONE?

A useful trick is to place the graphite grease in an oil can and heat it. When melted the grease is injected between the leaves, especially the part close to the spring clips.

INSPECT THEM

The spring clips which hold the springs to the axles should be inspected frequently and tightened. A loose spring clip will cause a spring to break very quickly.

PREVENT BREAKAGE

Do not neglect your spring shackles. Not only does proper lubrication add to the easy-riding qualities of a car, but it prevents breakage, an important matter, especially on a long trip. So every time you go over your car turn down or fill the grease cups if necessary.

RUBBER ON ROADS

Scrap rubber, spread on in liquid form, is used for road surface dressing in Ceylon.

STUDEBAKER BIG-SIX FIVE-PASSENGER COUPE $2935

The Big-Six Coupe Offers a Rare Combination of Elegance and Utility

Into the Studebaker Big-Six five-passenger Coupe have gone, without compromise, the finest design, materials, workmanship and the best of Studebaker's 71 years' experience.

Nothing has been left undone to make this big, roomy coupe as fine an enclosed car as can be built.

Certainly no car performs more brilliantly or is more reliable. None possesses greater beauty or is more luxuriously comfortable. None is more enjoyable to drive—and no other make of car is more completely equipped.

You will appreciate the generous roominess of this Big-Six Coupe, its sterling quality of body and chassis and its wealth of refinements—including the large trunk; extra disc wheel complete with tire, tube and tire cover; handsome nickel-plated bumpers front and rear; courtesy light; motorometer; flower vase; clock; aluminum-bound running boards with corrugated rubber mats and step pads; rear-view mirror, automatic windshield cleaner, glare-proof visor, and many others.

Its low price is due to large volume and to the fact that Studebaker overhead is shared by three models—all sixes. Then, too, only one manufacturing profit is included in the Big-Six price because all vital parts are manufactured in Studebaker plants.

Studebaker has been building quality vehicles for more than two generations.

MOVES SHOWROOM TO NEW LOCATION

Growth of Rickenbacker
Sales in Glendale Demands Larger Room

The demand for more space and a more centrally located showroom to meet the demands of his growing business have caused A. M. Shoffner, agent for the Rickenbacker car, to move from his original location at 120 South Maryland to his new premises at 107 East Harvard street.

The new showroom will permit Mr. Shoffner to have several models of the Rickenbacker car on display at the same time, something that was impossible in the old quarters, but, even under this handicap, Mr. Shoffner has been able to make a showing that is regarded as extremely creditable in the short time he has been established in Glendale.

Arrangements that have been made with the manufacturers insure more frequent deliveries of Rickenbackers here, and the entire line of these cars will be shown to the numerous prospects that Mr. Shoffner has lined up.

STEADY DEMAND FOR USED AUTOS

Smith & Howe Have Long
List of Buyers Waiting
For Bargains in Cars

The demand for used cars of all makes is shown by the steady business that Smith & Howe, 116 North Maryland, have been doing in this branch of the business of late, and at present the firm has entirely disposed of all the used cars they had bought or taken in as part payment on the Chandler and Cleveland cars for which they hold the local agency. Bine J. Smith, one of the partners, declares that the market for used cars has never been more active in all of his experience, and he states that he can use many more of them if he can secure them, either in trade on new cars or by paying cash for them.

"I have buyers waiting for every kind of car that can be brought here," he asserts, "and we are prepared to make a liberal allowance on used cars when traded in on the new Chandlers or Cleverlands, which are making such a hit with the motoring public since the introduction of the famous Pike's Peak motor, with its enormous power and its smooth running qualities."

Virgil says the best time for planting in the spring is when the stock returns in its migrations.

COUPE GIVES 31 MILES TO GALLON

Chevrolet Most Economical
Form of Transportation,
Salesman Claims

The Chevrolet won another boost as the car for economical transportation this week when Scott Whitaker, a traveling salesman, showed up at the C. L. Smith agency, Orange and Colorado, to show what his Chevrolet coupe had accomplished in the eleven months he has owned it. Mr. Whitaker had just come in from a trip of 675 miles, on which he averaged a shade over thirty-one miles to the gallon of gasoline and the four original cord tires that he got when he bought the machine are still good for many hundreds of miles besides the 15,000 that they have already covered.

Mr. Whitaker stated to Mr. Smith that he gets more, dollar for dollar value out of his Chevrolet coupe than any car he has ever driven, and he finds it admirably fitted for his work as salesman, covering a wide territory in the southland, as it keeps down his expense bills and permits him to make his territory with an absolute freedom from motoring worries.

C. L. Smith this week increased his sales force by the addition of two new men, H. C. Chapman and A. F. McCain, both experienced Chevrolet men, this move being made necessary by the number of customers the Chevrolet agency is called on to care for, especially as the vacation season creates a demand for more cars.

New Law to Rule In Hiring of Cops

Boards of supervisors of the counties of the state are being mailed contracts by the Division of Motor Vehicles, covering the employment of traffic officers as provided by the 1923 motor vehicle act. The new law provides that upon the submission of a list of names from their respective counties the chief of the Division of Motor Vehicles may make appointment. The officers so appointed in accordance with the motor vehicle act are empowered to enforce all of its provisions. This portion of the law is effective August 31, 1923.

LOOK FOR TROUBLE

Spring shackle play between the spring end and the shackle may give much annoyance until the cause of the trouble is discovered. Rattling caused by this looseness will be more frequent and distinct when the car is riding over rough roads. A good method of taking up the play is to place shims between the spring end and the shackle. Sometimes the play may be removed by tightening the spring bolt.

SEE ROMANCE IN MOTOR BUSINESS

World of Philosophy Shown
In Dealer's Relations
With Purchasers

Philosophy and romance in the automobile business! In a prosaic old world, it has often been said that romance has flown from business. But business was never accused of being philosophical. Even so Lyman P. Clark, of the Glendale Motor Company, Maxwell and Chalmers dealers, 124 West Colorado, members of the one of a thousand, National Automobile Dealers' association, says that there is world of philosophy connected with the automobile business and that it takes an even tempered man to conduct a business successfully.

"Whether it be for customer or for dealer, there is in the automobile business, as in all other circles of life, the rule that there is a paying time for everything," in the opinion of Mr. Clark. "If the customer errs in the choice of an automobile and finds after a year or two that there is no market for that automobile, he should not blame the dealer to whom he tries to sell it or trade it for a new car. But, if the dealer takes that old car at an allowance figure in excess of what is proper, he should not blame anyone but himself if he ultimately pays the price of bad judgment. The customer who bought this dealer's new car, influenced by the excessive allowance on the old car, may find that he has erred a second time."

"The enormous number of automobile dealers who fail year after year, is positive proof that the automobile business is a highly competitive, short-profit business. And no automobile merchant can give away profits, absorb used car losses indefinitely and stay in the business. Someone must pay for those losses and lack of profit. The members of the National Automobile Dealers' association have met this truth squarely and freely invite the scrutiny of the public. The members of the National association stand squarely upon the principles of selling meritorious merchandise, at meritorious price, on square deal principles. That is why the automobile buying public has been recording such a sharp swing over with the bulk of their business, to the N. A. D. A. one of a thousand merchants."

LIGHT SIX WINS IN ECONOMY RUN

Veteran Studebaker Averages High on Round Trip
To Huntington Lake

The economy run that was held last week-end from Los Angeles to Huntington Lake, to test out ten veteran Studebakers, resulted in a perfect score for a Light Six car, the first car of its kind ever sold in Los Angeles county, that had over 70,000 miles to its credit before it started on this run. The car had been for years in the service of the Southern California Edison company, piling up most of its mileage in mountain country.

The winner averaged 33.2-10 miles per gallon of gasoline on the trip to the lake and over 27 miles on the return trip, an all-round average of close to 30 miles per gallon, without being penalized in a single detail. Second award was won by a Big Six from Santa Ana.

The veteran Special Six entered by the Packer Auto company, 245 South Brand, Glendale dealers, made a good showing until Fresno was reached on the trip to the lake, averaging 19.7-10 miles per gallon, but at that point the gas feed pipe, that had been chafed by the steering mechanism over a long period, developed trouble and cut down from the car's score, setting the driver, Morris Walker, back seriously in the final accounting.

Stephen C. Packer, local agent, was acting as observer in one of the cars entered in the test, and practically every other agency in the Los Angeles territory was represented among the guests of the Paul G. Hoffman company of Los Angeles, who entertained the members of the party at Huntington Lake over the week-end.

Mountain Road Will Be Given Oil Coat

With the approval of the engineering department of the State Highway Commission, project for the oiling of the Rim of the World highway through Waterman Canyon as far as Pinecrest, will begin at once, it is announced.

Because the Rim of the World route is a state highway it was necessary to secure a permit from the State Highway Commission before the work could be undertaken. The oiling from Lake Arrowhead to Pinecrest was on a county road.

SQUEAK IN SPRINGS

A squeak can often be traced to the springs. When they become rusty, squeaks are bound to arise. By lifting the weight off the springs it is an easy matter to insert the lubricant. This will not only eliminate the squeak, but also produce easier riding qualities.

Apes have more strength in one hand than the average man has in two.

CAR OWNERSHIP BRINGS SUCCESS

Auto Not Luxury Any More
But Is Real Necessity
In Every Life

What a foolish idea is this! The automobile, vital in commerce and industry, indispensable to the tradesman and professional man, is in addition the very Man-Friday of the American family, the Aladdin of Everyman!

Bid him but serve you and he purrs his willingness. Rub him (with a good chamomile) and he is ready to transport you to the magic caves of diamonds and rubies—our great outdoors. He is your servant, willing and able. And he draws his salary only when he works, spending it again, immediately, on his master. What other servant will do this?

That the average man, in California, is realizing he does not fully live without an automobile, is proved by a comparative statement just issued by the Division of Motor Vehicles for the state, indicating that receipts showed an increase of 20 per cent in the business of the division, during the month of June, just passed, as over June a year ago.

Everywhere, and particularly in California, people are coming to realize more and more clearly that an automobile is no longer a luxury in the household but a dividend-paying investment in health and happiness.

PREDICT OUTPUT OF 200,000 CARS

Willys-Overland Facilities
Strained to Meet Demand
Of Nation's Buyers

Officials of the Willys-Overland factory at Toledo, Ohio, are straining every nerve to meet the demand for more cars, a demand that promises to send the 1923 output of the plant over the 200,000 mark, even if the present rate of production shows no increase for the remainder of the year. The output for the first quarter was 44,478 cars, more than were made in the first six months of 1922, and orders now on hand are more than were ever booked in the previous history of the firm.

Figures quoted by Harry C. Kennedy, sales manager for Smith-Sloan, Inc., 228 South Brand, local dealers, show the magnitude of the Willys-Overland plant, with its 6,000,000 feet of floor space embraced in 86 factory buildings that cover 119 acres of ground. Twelve and a half miles of track are laid in the confines of the plant, and the twenty-two railroads that enter Toledo assure efficient shipping facilities for raw materials, parts and finished cars. The factory is laid out on the unit plan, and every operation in the manufacture of the cars dovetails into the next one, so that production follows a definite order of steps, from start to finish, every workman being a specialist in his own job. A medical examination of every workman is made before he is accepted so that the efficiency of every man in the plant averages extremely high.

turning while they are in the act of theft. Every motorist should, therefore, carefully lock his car, and before leaving should glance around to see if any suspicious-looking characters are in the vicinity. "A little more care may save your car" is one of the slogans of the club.

To such an almost incredible degree has the theft of automobiles become commercialized that women deputies or patrols have frequently been employed to line up cars for theft, and it is believed that an "underground railway" for the disposal of stolen machines runs clear across the continent.

Officials urge the public to cooperate with them in the work of protecting cars from theft, and in running the thieves to cover, ordinary care and foresight being the best weapons to use in fighting this ruthless and brainy type of criminal.

FORD SALVAGING LUMBER SUPPLY

Ninety Million Feet Are Annually Saved at Different Company Plants

DETROIT, Mich., July 14.—Salvaging of approximately 90,000,000 feet of lumber annually at its Highland Park plant is the Ford Motor Company's contribution to national forestry conservation.

Aside from the wood used in manufacturing automobiles, the company's requirements for packing and shipping run into enormous figures and to provide lumber for this purpose every bit of scrap is utilized through the salvage department, even to the smallest possible pieces. The little that cannot be salvaged is used for fuel.

The department, formed principally as a means of reducing waste, is conducted purely as a conservation agency. While it was not the intention of the company to make it profit-producing, yet by putting it on an efficient basis it has progressed to the point where it is now self-sustaining.

An average of 800 men are employed, working twenty-four hours a day in three eight-hour shifts, and the work includes the operation of the lumber yard, saw mills and the handling of all new and old lumber for shipping.

While every day the Highland Park plant uses more than 200,000 feet of new lumber in making shipments, the salvage department daily re-claims nearly 300,000 feet of old lumber and converts it into boxes, crates, cleats, braces and other pieces.

Every factory unit in the Ford organization constantly strives for 100 per cent lumber salvage. At the River Rouge plant, the Lincoln plant and at all branch plants throughout the country, every bit of lumber possible is used for shipping and what remains is sent by the carload and the truck load to Highland Park, where facilities permit the utilization of smaller pieces than at any other place and where salvaging is carried to the extreme limit.

VALUES IN USED CARS EXPLAINED

Responsible Dealers Stake Reputation on Sales Of Every Auto

The demand for new cars of all models in the Buick line during the vacation season has brought to Tanner & Hall, 237 South Brand, Buick agents, a number of automobiles that have been taken in on the sales, and these cars are being offered by the firm now to persons who are in the market for reliable automobiles at a price that they feel they can afford. These cars have all been overhauled from every angle and are in the best mechanical shape, carrying a sixty-day guarantee from the firm.

"Many people," says Ray L. Galvin, sales manager of Tanner & Hall, "have an idea that a used car is lacking in value, but this is a serious mistake. For instance, a man may drive a machine 10,000 miles, handling it carefully and keeping it in the best of shape, and then turn it in on a new car or otherwise dispose of it. A car like that has many thousands of miles left in it; in fact, it is safe to say that it is a better buy than many new cars, and when such an automobile is carefully overhauled by expert mechanics and is guaranteed by a responsible firm, it can be taken for granted that the buyer will get more value for his money than in almost any other investment. No responsible firm of automobile dealers can afford to put out a used car that is not absolutely reliable, for it would mean a loss of the commercial reputation that such a firm classes among its most priceless assets."

Woman Claims Prison Fails to Cure Crime

SCIENTISTS SEEK PREHISTORIC MAN

Ten Year Investigation Is Planned to Hunt Data In Missouri

By W. F. SULLIVAN
For International News Service

ST. LOUIS, July 14.—Down deep into the bowels of the earth, scientists of six institutions will delve for the next ten years in a research survey of Missouri to uncover data about prehistoric man believed to have roamed the wild prairies of the state centuries ago. The research party will explore the mountains, old Indian trails, quarries and village sites which the cloak of time has covered for innumerable years.

Records now in the possession of various societies show some valuable information about the race which inhabited the state long ago, but the survey is expected to unearth many rare specimens of their handiwork and more complete information about their habits and modes of living.

Local scientists who are doing the field work are offering their services gratis and even providing part of the fund by which the extensive survey may be made possible. The first actual work has been started at Crescent, in St. Louis county.

At the instance of the Carnegie Foundation, the St. Louis Anthropological Society formed the organization, which is known as the Missouri Archaeological Survey. The foundation is co-operating to the extent of providing information to aid the workers in finding sites to explore, and the Missouri Historical Society will turn over its records to the archaeologists to further the undertaking.

WILL HIRE MUTES TO RUN FACTORY

More Zealous in Efforts to Earn Own Way, Claims Owner of Plant

ST. LOUIS, July 14.—A factory is to be established here in which the entire working personnel will be deaf mutes.

The project will be undertaken by S. H. Curlee, president of the Curlee Clothing Company, who, after an experiment covering sixteen years, has found workers in this unfortunate condition to be more zealous in their endeavors than most normal employees.

In that sixteen years Curlee has had one deaf mute constantly in his employ, has analyzed his attitude and attention to duty, and has concluded that an independent factory operated solely by deaf and dumb workers will be a success.

Hard Workers
"The deaf mutes are highly efficient workmen," Curlee explained. "They apply themselves to their work, are seldom absent, and, through their zeal to earn a livelihood, just as capable as more fortunate persons. They have worked themselves up in many instances to positions of responsibility."

Curlee pointed out that even more efficient work by the mutes probably will result from his experiment, as, instead of a director having to write down instructions as at present, the sign language can be used by the mute in charge.

Others Distracted
Other workers are distracted from their work much more often than the mute, he says, because they hear all noises outside the plant, or engage in conversation, which takes them away from their machines. The mute cannot hear the fire trucks go clanging by, and hence does not lose the many minutes it takes the normal worker to go to the window and get back to work at his post.

Law Aspirants Barred After Third Failure

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 14.—"Three times and out," rather than "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again," is proposed as the motto for the County Bar association. Candidates for admission to the bar have been known to try exams anywhere from 6 to 16 times in succession, but a newly-adopted rule provides that a person who fails three times shall not be permitted to try again.

TOURISTS COVER COUNTRY ROADS

Smooth Highways and Modern Cars Render Traveler Free From Care

With fine, hard roads stretching forth like so many ribbons throughout most sections of the country and with the development of motor cars to a point where they provide luxurious ease of travel and absolute dependability, America has become a nation of tourists. The fact is more pronounced this summer, with its vast increase of cars, than ever before.

"Literally hundreds of thousands of cars whose license tags bespeak great distances from home, dot the highways throughout the country during the summer months," says E. B. Sutton, manager of the Glendale Nash Sales, 112 South Maryland. "Along about this time of year it is interesting to note the appearance on the streets of almost any large city license plates bearing the inscription of practically every state in the Union."

"Drive for an hour over any of the great transcontinental highways and observe passing cars filled with tourists, and note from their license tags the great distance they have traveled entirely independent of former modes of transportation."

"The tourist's time is his own and he drives at will. He may stop at a hotel for the night or he may choose an attractive camping site, thousands of which are now along the main traveled roads of the country."

Another interesting phase of summer touring has been the adoption of the fully equipped Sport Car as a most desirable type of automobile for cross-country travel. The more thoroughly equipped car is the one best suited for this purpose. With extra wheels of a design that makes possible an easy and quick change, the tourist's mind is carefree and when his car is equipped as well with motometer, bumpers, and a trunk for luggage, he finds full measure of enjoyment."

Girl Runs Away From Spouse Parents Pick

CHICAGO, July 14.—While relatives and friends of Josephine Barone were preparing to celebrate her recent marriage to her cousin, Sam Sciatta, the girl fled to officials of the juvenile court and asked protection. She said she was an American girl, wanted to exercise her right to marry whom she chose and was tired of being kidnapped by relatives who insisted upon carrying out the Italian custom of picking a husband for her. The last time, she said, her brother, James, and his wife carried her off to Kentucky and compelled her to go through a civil ceremony with Sciatta, then brought her back home pending a religious ceremony. She escaped and took refuge in a police station.

House of David Team Goes on Annual Tour

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., July 14.—The long-haired, long-bearded baseball team of the House of David has left on its annual tour. Postponement of the Michigan state probe into the moral affairs of the colony until September 11 to give the authorities time to look for "King" Benjamin Purcell, who fled when things got too hot, has made the tour possible. Previously the ball players, important members of the colony, had been ordered to remain here as possible witnesses.

Tommy Minks was small and dapper. He tried to hide his bashfulness by a bold display of clothes and sought to make up for his lack of stature with an air of assurance. With men he talked in big figures of business and the future; of women, especially the large ones, he was frightened.

Tommy stood in line at the Clatterbang Cafeteria. He held a tray in front of him as he edged past the stations presided over by eagle-eyed and efficient women anxious to add items to his menu. Tommy guarded the tray, eluded the insistent salad girl, and paused before the goddess of the beef stew.

"Stew, please," said Tommy briskly, as he smiled at a pink and white girl who gave him a nod of recognition.

This girl was the only one Tommy knew of whom he was not afraid. Maybe it was because there was no chance for conversation with a line of hungry people crowding for place, or it might have been because this girl was small like him and had such a friendly look. He watched her as he ate, whenever there was a break in the line in front of her counter, and was delighted at the discovery that the smile she gave the others was not the same as that reserved for him.

The girl became the reason Tommy continued to eat at the cafeteria. He could afford a better place now, and he was getting tired of beef stew every day in the week. And yet he came back for the particular and exclusive smile she gave him. Some day, maybe, he would get a chance to say something more than "good morning." But when he looked in the place after work she was gone.

Tommy thought of slipping her a note, and even wrote one. Then he pictured her reaching for it over a counter and in front of a row of grinning men and women. It was more than he could do.

"I can't very well say, 'Beef stew, please, what's your name?'" he complained. "Nope, I've just got to wait and trust to chance."

So Tommy waited, gave the girl a daily greeting, and ate beef stew with a devotion worthy the true knight. If there is a language of eyes, it spoke of a counter and through the clatter of suchery, and Tommy's thoughts reached the girl.

One day when discouragement sat heavily upon the lad there came a tiny break in the routine. The girl smiled as usual, thrust her hand in the pocket of her apron and withdrew an addressed and stamped envelope.

"Would you mind mailing this for me?" she asked, placing the letter on the tray. The stew followed, Tommy nodded and the line moved. "It was little enough, but for Tommy an adventure."

On his way back to the office Tommy held the letter in his hand looking for a mail box. He wouldn't look at the address, he told himself, but there might be a return one in the corner. It was there, in a correct, upright hand: "Elsie Wade, 153 Eighty-fourth street."

Tommy set it down in a notebook. "Tomorrow's Sunday," he said. "I'll walk around that way and maybe I'll meet her, as if by accident."

The address was on the other side of town, but Tommy found it. He met her within a block of her house and she smiled in greeting. "Well," said Tommy, "imagine meeting you! I was just taking a little walk. Won't you go with me? Isn't there a park somewhere near?"

In a surprisingly short time Tommy was telling her how glad he was to be able to say something to her except "good morning."

"Why, I never thought you noticed me more than any of the other girls," she said.

Then he told her he did not care a bit about beef stew and stumbled awkwardly over the confession it had been the girl and not the stew which had halted him in the daily tray parade.

When they neared her house again Tommy had planned another expedition for the next Sunday. Suddenly he thought of something. "My name," he said, "is Tommy Minks. I know yours. It's Elsie Wade. I read it on the corner of the letter. You don't mind?"

The girl smiled mischievously, then laughed.

"If I want that you should do it," she said. "There was nothing inside but a blank piece of paper." She looked at him anxiously.

"You don't think the less of me?"

"Not me," said Tommy. "I'm glad."

DAILY FASHION HINT

Prepared Especially for The Glendale Evening News

PARIS SPONSORS NEW CAPES

As soon as the Summer fashions were definitely declared, Paris began to look ahead and seeking variety for the cape so that it might enjoy another season, she evolved this idea, which may be carried out in a great number of smart materials—marvelous, twill-crepe, crepe broche, etc. The lower edge is finished with a circular ruffle, and the collar, though enormous, makes a soft and fascinating setting for the face. The toque is a small shape in embroidered broadcloth. The cape is lined with self-color radium silk. Medium size requires 3 3/4 yards 54-inch material.

Pictorial Review Cape No. 1800. Sizes, 18 to 20 years, and 34 to 44 inches bust. Price, 45 cents.

THE VOGUE FOR RUFFLES
Here Paris designs the kind of frock that you would like to wear for morning, luncheon, tea, or even for the restaurant dinner. It is developed in navy-blue flat crepe, and the skirt and neck vie with each other in the matter of attention paid to ruffles. Both the deep collar and flounce on the skirt are finely plaited. The fullness of the waist is held in with a girdle of crepe, finished with a cascade of novelty ribbon. Medium size requires 5 yards 36-inch material.

Pictorial Review Dress No. 1832. Sizes, 16 to 20 years, and 34 to 42 inches bust. Price, 45 cents.

WIRE HOLDER
An inventor has patented a spring wire holder for a sponge or wash cloth to enable a person to reach the middle of his back.

LARGE HANDS

A year ago a fashion began to creep in that should be welcomed with joy by the women with large hands. This was the vogue for gauntlet cuffs, at first seen on only a few Paris dresses, from houses noted for their eccentric styles. But last year's eccentricity is this year's smart fashion and next year's ordinary one. A year ago a very few designers put out gauntlet cuffs. This year they are smart, but not everyone knows it yet!

Do you know how to cut a gauntlet cuff? I have an ingenious young friend who opened and used a paper candle shade as a pattern. Most candle shades, however, are fan shape—semi-circles, that is, with a semi-circular piece cut out of the bottom—the diamond, that is, of the circle you've drawn and halved. That's a bit too much flare for a cuff on a dress. I'd suggest that you cut a straight cuff of paper and pin fan-shaped pleats in it, until it fits nicely around the wrist, with a becoming flare above. This can be laid flat, and the real pattern cut from it, with the pleats in it, will curve sufficiently.

A gauntlet is only becoming on a straight, fairly narrow sleeve, and roll in cocoanut or powdered sugar. A reader requested this recipe some time ago.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be turned. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

THE FEAR OF BEING BUSINESSLIKE.

"The ring of coin is often the knell of friendship."—Old Proverb.

In my paper the other morning I read a heartening little item. At least it seemed so to me, though there was nothing dramatic about the telling, nothing in the wording to suggest the poignancy of suffering and disillusionment that lay behind those facts.

The gist of the item was this. A widow, seventy-four years old, infirm, with no other property and no relatives to care for her, was trying to get back the title of a fourteen room house, which for seventeen years she had run as a lodging house.

She had given a bill of sale to the house to a man who had gained her confidence and promised her certain things in exchange for it.

She understood that the house did not pass to him until her death, and then only if he had fulfilled the conditions. And what were the conditions?

Just imagine this! That he should provide her until her death with "the back parlor furnished suitably, together with clothing, board, and a reasonable amount of spending money."

Can you imagine anything more unbusiness-like, more heartrending open to misconception than such conditions?

What is a suitably furnished back parlor? What is reasonable spending money? Who is to say if she needs clothing?

Apparently even these conditions were only understood and not put into writing.

When I finished it I sat brooding over it, trying to understand how any woman could have been foolish enough to do such a thing.

Honestly Would Have Welcomed Safeguards
And gradually I reconstructed it in my mind. The friend (apparently he was a friend of recent date) had probably boarded with her. He had been very kind, he had pitied her for having to work so hard. He had probably talked about his mother. He had done kind things for her, won her confidence, and finally suggested this arrangement. Very likely he had made it appear as a favor to her.

In short, he had kept the whole thing on such a friendly basis that when any doubts assailed her she was ashamed to entertain them. And, as for asking him for references, or safeguarding herself in some way, or having a lawyer—why, it seemed like insulting a good friend and she couldn't bear to do it. Maybe she did tentatively suggest some such safeguards and he promptly adopted a grievous hurt air that made her retract.

Of course this is constructed from the meager information in the little item by the science of psychology, just as the scientist reconstructs the picture of the dinosaur from the fragments of its bones that he finds. But, tell me, in what other spirit could she have done the thing? She wasn't utterly ignorant of business ways. She could have hardly been that and run a lodging house for seven years.

Open Door to Fraud
I think this fear of hurting people who are courteous and kind, by doing things in a businesslike manner, is one of the most potent sources of financial misunderstandings and actual fraud.

I have a great objection to mixing business and friendship. Talk about oil and water! But if you must mix them, conduct your business in the same business-like way you would with a stranger. If you lend money, take a note; if you borrow money, insist on giving a note; if you are going to work for a friend, have the whole arrangement as definite and business-like as if you were to work for a stranger. That gives you the best chance of preserving your friendship through the hazards of the business transaction.

You may not do it even then. But at least you have a sporting chance.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

"Dear Doctor Peters: I wanted to write you some time ago, but waited until I could sit up so I could write plainly and you wouldn't have trouble reading it."

"I am exactly five months old, weigh nineteen pounds and am healthy and happy, but ever since I was born have been very much perturbed about one thing, and that is this, dear doctor:

"Why can't my mamma nurse me? And why do so many mammas we meet have to resort to artificial food for their babies?"

"I weighed nine pounds four ounces at birth, and before and after the event my mamma ate what she thought was the proper food, and she drank milk, too. At first she had lots of milk. She nursed me every three hours and gave me something in a bottle, but finally the doctor told her not to bother, just give me the bottle. I don't believe I got an ounce from her sides. Please tell me why this is, doctor?"

"My mamma tells me of the wonderful work you are doing, and every time she tries something new on me; for instance, getting the gas or air up two or three times during a feeding. Instead of once as formerly. I know she has been at your column and getting my colleague's—the Adorable Sockum's—story."

"I wish my teeth would hurry up and come through—they make me just a wee bit fretful. Otherwise, I enjoy very much being a baby."

"CHARLES F. G., JR." My! you must have been a whopping big baby, Charles. You came into the world belonging to our F. F.'s, didn't you? You think you did not get an ounce, but did your lovely mamma weigh you before and after nursing to see just how much you did get? I wonder you didn't tell me whether your mamma was overweight or not—but I will let a cookie she was, because when mammas get overweight it so often makes the milk scanty and poor.

You did not get all the milk from the breasts. What was the matter, child? Sometimes, if you do not take all the milk from your mamma's breasts, it is wise for her to express the balance out with her hands by putting the thumb on top of the breasts and her fingers underneath, pressing back and then down firmly.

This milk can be put in a sterile bottle or glass and fed to your babies after the next nursing. If you are feeble and it is too hard for you to get all your milk from the breasts. Sometimes mammas' nipples are a little too firm and the milk duct opening is too tiny, and, of course, a little lad will get discouraged trying to get it.

You can expect to be a wee bit fretful while you are having your teeth, Charles, dear. Do not worry about that. I will tell you what I am worrying about for you. That is, it seems to me you are a little bit overweight, aren't you? Don't you want to join our crowd and eat a little less and only every four hours? I wish you would do this, boy. I think you are an adorable baby just like Sockum, and I am terribly glad you wrote. Will you write me again some time?

The town hall was packed for the traveling melodrama, and the village audience followed the young heroine's tribulations with breathless interest, says the American Legion Weekly.

She was having a terrible time. In the space of five short minutes she was tied to a railroad track, narrowly escaped being dissected by a buzz saw, and had been thrown over the edge of a precipice. At last it appeared that she was certainly doomed. The villain led her into a lonely cave and cast her into the presence of a huge gorilla.

"Revenge!" muttered the villain.

"Oh, what shall I do? What shall I do?" moaned the beautiful one.

It was too much. The strain could not be borne for another minute. Up rose a man in the audience and yelled in frenzied excitement:

"Chuck him a nut, miss!"

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl seventeen years old and until lately I have never gone with a boy. About a month ago a boy at school invited me to a dance and after that he came to see me several times. He seemed to like me very much and I liked him, too. Now it has been over a week and I have not heard a word from him. Do you think it would be all right for me to telephone him and ask him what is wrong and tell him I would like to have him come over?

DOROTHY.
No, I would not advise you to telephone the boy. He will come without urging if he wants to. A week is not a very long time for him to stay away and you have no real reason to be alarmed. Even if he never comes again, your pride should prevent you from asking him or letting him know that you are disappointed.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am in love with a young man who has been brought up in an extremely religious family. Unfortunately I am the child of a liberal family, and so the parents of the young man are broken-hearted because of our regard for each other.

He has told me he loves me and he wants to be married either this fall or next spring. I know very well from the way his parents treat me, and from the things his mother has said directly to me, that they bitterly oppose the marriage and would do anything to break it up.

The young man I love is not strict in his religious views. I really think that I am more religious at heart than he is, although I rarely attend church and please his parents. He says that from childhood he has had religion forced on him until it has lost all of its spirit of love and beauty and he thinks of it only as a disagreeable duty. I feel it is most unfortunate to be in that state of mind and I hope if we do marry that a little more religious freedom will give him the love of God I feel. I do not mean to influence him in any way and will never try to force my views on him. He can be perfectly free to worship as he chooses.

The big problem in our case is whether or not marriage would be advisable as long as it will be necessary to live in the same town with his parents. In my own home I have always known love and tolerance, and I cannot bear the thought of marrying a man whose parents think he will be lost by such a union. Would you advise me to try to win their love before we think of marriage, or would you advise that I forget about their antagonism and marry because of our love for each other?

MILDRED L.
Don't let the prejudice of the young man's parents stand in the way of your marriage. If you are tactful and forgiving you can make them love you after marriage. I am confident that they will judge you later on by the kind of wife you are, and when they feel the great love in your home and see that their son is happy, it will do much to make them feel there are good people outside the church, after all. They may always regret that your soul will not be saved because you do not share their views, but I think they will learn to love you.

It would be entirely unfair to punish the man who loves you for the views of his parents. Marry him and fill his life with the love and freedom which may restore religion to his soul.

Thelma: Communicate with the hospital and ask what clothes will be needed. Also inquire where you can get the collars you desire.

Dr. Rosalie S. Morton was a professor in the New York Polytechnic post-graduate medical school and hospital and an attending physician at the New York Hospital.

For her services rendered Serbian soldiers she was given a commission carrying the rank of sergeant-major, the highest rank given to an American woman during the war. She was also decorated by the Serbian government as a chevalier of the Order of St. Sava. Having served in a French hospital for Serbian soldiers she was officially authorized to wear the French doctor's military uniform.

In 1919 she founded the International Serbian Educational committee obtaining American scholarships from the student body, the alumni and friends of several colleges in this country. From nearly 2000 applicants fifty young Serbians were selected and are now studying in various institutions here. They are preparing themselves for special work in their own country. Naturally they look to Dr. Morton for guidance and she recently toured the country to visit them.

Dr. Morton was born in Lynchburg, Va. She was graduated with honors from the woman's medical college of Pennsylvania. Later she studied in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, and London, Ceylon and India. In the last two countries she made a special study of tropical diseases. In 1902 she visited Korea, Japan, China and the Philippine Islands. In 1905 she married George P. Morton, Jr., of New York, but he died in 1912.

Besides her work for the young Serbians she equipped the Morton hospital in Jugoslavia.

LONDON, July 14.—The a few days later," Cust said. "when we were told that they had given up their jobs. One went back to the factory and the other remained at home unemployed."

Prohibition is a popular topic with most of them who arrive in England from the United States, but Hetty King, actress, is suing a Glasgow paper for $15,000 on a libel charge, asserting that the paper misquoted her on American prohibition. The article of which she complains was headlined: "Hetty King's Plea for Dry Uncle Sam."

London has just opened its first public golf course, and now the King is properly toasted, burns cigarettes and cigars and fills a huge French briar of the ulldog type. His lead is generally followed by most of the elite, and those who haven't a pipe with them feel just as out of place, and uncomfortable as though they had worn tan shoes with their evening clothes.

Tobacco shops report that the sale of pipes in the last two months has grown in leaps and bounds and that the business is returning to the pre-war normal.

The Prime Minister buys his pipes in an exclusive shop in St. James, where they are made especially for him, and where he has his own blend of tobacco smoked.

The Prince of Wales still sticks to huge cigars, no matter what the fashion may be for other smokers.

Abbreviating Gear Shifts
Many operators do consider unnecessary shifting of gears, which involves needless wear and tear on their cars and themselves. When a car will move of its own weight, upon releasing its brakes, there is no occasion to go through the regular sequence of low, second and high gear engagements, but the habit of always starting in low gear (which is, of course, a most excellent one) is so ingrained that most drivers do not realize that there are exceptions to the rule upon which it is founded. Suppose a car is left headed down a sufficient grade, it is only necessary to engage high gear, switch on the ignition, release the emergency brake, hold out the clutch until a little speed

No Power On Hills
S. H. L. writes: When idling and running at thirty miles per hour the engine of my car hits on all eight cylinders, but it shows no power on hills, not enough to take them on second speed. It misses on first and second, when starting. What can be the cause of its lack of power? The plugs are all clean.

Battery Is Low
B. G. S. asks: Why is it that up to fifteen miles per hour on high gear, the lights of my car are dim and the horn weak, but running faster the lights are bright and the horn O. K.? On low and second gear both lights and horn are all right.

Answer: We believe that carburetion is at fault at open throttle, but whether this is a matter of faulty carburetor adjustment or due to the fuel feed being insufficient to take care of open throttle demand, we do not know. You better check up the fuel-feed and make sure that the carburetor is thoroughly cleaned out, and then look to its adjustment. It is also possible that you have a defective ignition coil, that the plug gaps are too wide or that something else is wrong with the ignition system that makes the sparks weak when the throttle is open enough to produce high compression pressures, as when climbing hills.

Generator Charging Speed
T. W. V. asks: How many revolutions per minute does a generator such as used in my car have to make to charge its battery?

Answer: Your generator runs at twice engine speed and builds up so that it is cut into circuit

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE SPARROW
Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy was giving a little party in the hollow stump bungalow of Uncle Wiggily. She had invited Mr. Whitewash, the polar bear gentleman; Uncle Butter, the goat; Grandpa Whackum, the beaver; Mr. and Mrs. Twistytail, the pigs; Mr. and Mrs. Littletail, the rabbits, and many others.

"Aren't any of the animal boys and girls coming?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, yes!" answered the muskrat lady housekeeper. "They are coming to have some ice cream and cake, but they are to go home early. For after the party I am going to have a little singing concert, Uncle Wiggily, and the boys and girls will not care much for that."

"Perhaps they will not," agreed the bunny gentleman. "But who is going to sing at your concert, Nurse Jane?"

"Mr. Yellow Canary, with his golden voice," said the muskrat lady. "And I hope you men folks won't get all puffed up with pride because it is a gentleman bird singing."

"Don't worry," laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Everyone knows that the lady birds are too busy bringing up little birdies to have time to sing as sweetly as their husbands. Well, I hope you have fine weather for the party."

"Thank you, Mr. Longears," spoke Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "And truly the sun never shone so bright, the grass was never so green and the wind was never so gentle as the day of her party and concert."

"But also!" When all the guests were gathered in or about the hollow stump bungalow, and when the animal boys, seated near Uncle Wiggily were eating their ice cream and cake, all of a sudden along came Old Dog Percival.

"Here is a telegram for Nurse Jane," he barked.

Quickly the muskrat lady opened the envelope of white birch bark and read the message.

"Oh, it is from Mr. Yellow Canary," gasped the muskrat lady, "and he has such a dreadful cold that he can not come and sing. Oh, what shall I do? There will be no music at my concert."

Nurse Jane was in the kitchen when Percival brought the message. She was helping Uncle Wiggily dish out more ice cream for the animal boys and girls and all the grown ups were out on the lawn.

"If you please," chattered Johnnie Bushytail, the squirrel boy, "I can get you a bird to sing at your concert, Nurse Jane."

"Who can you get?" asked the muskrat lady with a flash of hope on her face.

"A sparrow bird," answered the squirrel boy.

"Oh, Johnnie, don't be silly," sighed Nurse Jane. "I know you want to be kind and help me, she went on, 'but a sparrow can't sing. They can only go 'Yip! Yip-Chip! Cheep!' and that is not music."

"The sparrow I mean makes lovely music," chattered the squirrel boy. "Wait, I'll get him!"

He found the tree he was looking for and soon he hurried back. Flying above his head was a little brown bird.

"Oh, my guests will laugh at me for letting a sparrow sing for them," sighed Nurse Jane.

But the little brown bird, flapping his tail and tilting his head, opened his bill and such lovely music came forth that all the animal folk stopped chattering and listened.

With trills and runs, with sweet notes that sounded like golden water dripping over green mossy stones, the little brown bird sang. "That is no sparrow!" said Nurse Jane. "That is Mr. Yellow Canary in a brown coat. He played a trick on me."

"No, Nurse Jane," spoke the bird who had sung so sweetly. "I am a sparrow, but I am called a song sparrow, for I do sing a little lovely music."

"Thank you, Johnnie, for bringing the song sparrow to me," said Nurse Jane. "I never knew any sparrow could sing so sweetly."

And then the two brown birds flew away, after having eaten some chocolate crumbs, and everyone was happy.

And if the rocking horse doesn't get all tangled in the clothes line when he tries to jump rope with the rag doll, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the shiny leaves.

Rawson's selection to handle the G. O. P. campaign will be engineered to bring together the rival factions in the Republican household, it is said.

The membership of England's historic house of commons now includes a former chorus girl. The recent election of Mrs. Hilton Philipson, known on the stage as Mabel Russell, worked her way from chorus girl to stardom before quitting the footlights to wed Philipson in June, 1917.

She is the third member of her sex to enter the British house. Lady Astor and Mrs. Margaret Wintringham are the others who preceded her.

Mrs. Philipson is a conservative and won her seat from Berwick-on-Tweed as such, defeating her liberal and labor opponents by a majority of 6,000. She succeeds her husband, who was elected by the same constituency last November but who was disqualified because of alleged illegal acts on the part of his election agent. It is an odd coincidence that all three of the women house members succeeded their husbands.

EAGLE ROCK

PUBLIC LIBRARY HOURS EXTENDED

Thousands of Volumes Afford
Wide Choice to Patrons;
Circulation Grows

The hours of the Eagle Rock branch of the Los Angeles Public Library have been extended, the doors now remaining open from 1 o'clock each afternoon until 9 o'clock at night.

Mrs. Blanche Gardiner, librarian, assisted by Miss Marjorie Ball, constitute a highly efficient staff eager to serve the reading public. They are assisted part of the time by Miss Muriel Gardiner. Mrs. Gardiner wishes it known that the library carries a total of 68,280 volumes, made up of 32,475 fiction, 19,701 juvenile fiction and 16,104 non-fiction.

The circulation in 1922 was 53,570 volumes, which shows a gain of 14,710 for the last year. The total of subscribers to date is 3,360 and the appropriation for the current year is $5,500. These figures are based on the report submitted at the time the library became a branch of the Los Angeles institution, Mrs. Gardiner states.

She wishes it known that should any desired volume not be on the shelves of the local branch, a subscriber may put in a request and have the book obtained from the main library in Los Angeles. Any one wishing to use the auditorium must make a formal request for the same and file it at the branch, when it will be acted upon as promptly as possible.

The following committee, at the request of Librarian Perry of Los Angeles, has been appointed by the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce to act in an advisory capacity to the branch library: W. J. Cook, chairman, and H. H. Maxson, J. C. Shedd, Mrs. C. W. Young and Mrs. H. G. Shearin.

Masons to Frolic

The annual picnic of Eagle Rock lodge, No. 422, F. and A. M., together with the local eastern Star chapter, No. 313, will be held Saturday afternoon and night, July 14, at Eagle Rock park. It is announced from Masonic headquarters.

Various committees have comprehensive plans under way that include a baseball game, tug-of-war and races of all sorts, for young and old, with adequate prizes to guarantee excitement.

The evening will be featured by a watermelon feast and basket dinner, with dancing to good music.

All Masons, Eastern Stars and their families and friends are invited to come and take part in the festivities.

NEW TRACTOR

A new attachment for farm tractors pulverizes the soil and turns it over much as is done by an animal's claws.

8 o'clock at 313 East Wilson avenue. Rev. Jennie McHenry in charge. Healing at 2:30 and 3 o'clock; lecture by associate pastor of Los Angeles; lecture at 8 o'clock Sunday night by Rev. Jennie McHenry. Messages at all services. Health and success club meets Thursday night at 8 o'clock at 313 East Wilson avenue.

Casa Verdugo M. E.

Church at corner of Park and North Central avenues. Rev. J. C. Livingston, pastor. Sunday school 9:45 o'clock; George E. Tyrell, superintendent. Morning worship 11 o'clock; young people meet at the usual hour; evening service, 7:30 o'clock.

Holy Family Catholic

Church at corner of Elk and Louise streets. Rev. Michael Galvin, parish priest; Rev. Patrick Curran, assistant. Masses at 6:30, 8, 9:30 and 10:30 o'clock. Rosary service closing with benediction at 7:45 o'clock. For the convenience of the congregation, four masses will be held every Sunday.

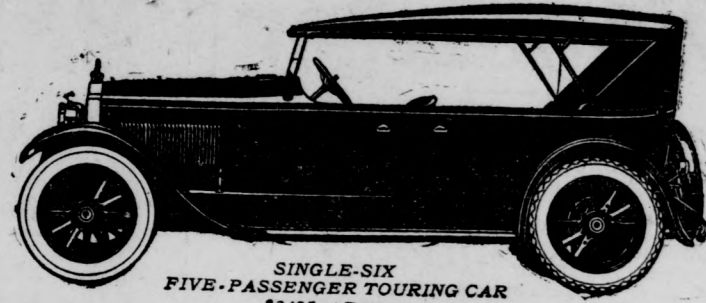

Broadway Methodist Church South Meets in American Legion hall, 610 East Broadway. Rev. L. J. Millikan, pastor. Will J. Myers, musical director. J. N. McGillis, superintendent. Sunday school 9:45 o'clock; morning service 11 o'clock; sermon by Rev. Millikan, "Gideon's Victory"; prayer meeting Wednesday night 8 o'clock, at 1222 East Lexington drive; Women's Missionary Society Thursday at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. Millikan at 1222 East Lexington drive.

Glendale Presbyterian

"Church of the Lighted Cross." Broadway at Cedar street. Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor; Rev. Louis Flinching, assistant pastor; H. S. Finlay, S. S. superintendent; Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts, musical director. Sunday school, fully graded, 9:30 o'clock. Men's Bible class, City Hall, 9:30 o'clock. Morning worship, 11 o'clock; sermon by Rev. Edmonds, "The Man of Sorrows"; Twilight Communion service 6 o'clock, reception of new members; Christian Endeavorers meet after communion service; mid-week prayer service Wednesday night 7:30 o'clock.

Music in morning, prelude, "Lead Kindly Light," with variations (Ashford); quartet, "O, Taste and See" (Millier); Miss Elizabeth Mottern, soprano; Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts, contralto and director; J. Malcomson Huddy, tenor; Norman W. Kelch, bass; prayer response, "The Soul That Clings to Thee" (Batiste-Bird); contralto solo, "He Was Despised" from "The Messiah" (Handel); Mrs. Retts; postlude, "March in C" (Ashford).

Evening, 6 o'clock—prelude, "Romanza" (Mozart); anthem, "To Jesus, Our Exalted Lord" (Brueschweiler); harp solo by Miss Marjorie Jean Bailey; postlude (Selected).

SINCERITY

The sincerity with which we enter into any transaction in our business is one of the distinguishing characteristics that has made for us scores of friends.

When we refer to friends we mean those persons with whom we have had business dealings and whose interest in us has waxed warmer because of the contact.

We firmly believe that sincere effort is the fundamental basis of success in this business, or in any other business.

Sincerity may be applied equally as well to the materials and commodities we sell, for, if their quality and prices are right, coupled with prompt and satisfactory service, those factors all become integral parts of what we term sincerity.

SAN FERNANDO ROAD IS MAKING MANY WEALTHY AND IT WILL CONTINUE

Story of Prosperity Highway Proves Most Remarkable—Almost Unbelievable—Yet Evidence Is There to Prove It

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff

NOT one front foot of San Fernando road in Glendale, south of Broadway, can now be had for under $100, according to L. H. Wilson, realtor, of 1034 South San Fernando road; while some lots are bringing $400 per front foot.

This is in 1923. In 1921, almost anything along the road could have been picked up for from $12 to $15 per front foot.

There, briefly, is the story of San Fernando road. It is a story so remarkable that it almost makes human intelligence balk and refuse to believe the evidence. In short, it sounds impossible. But it is so and it can easily be proved. Mr. Wilson and other real estate men have the evidence.

As a matter of fact, they are selling the very evidence itself! For, daily they are turning parcels of San Fernando road frontage at these figures; and those who buy are turning them again at higher figures.

While San Fernando road values have skyrocketed, as compared with what they were two years ago, they are remarkably low as compared with similar frontage in other cities of the same class. This is why these repeated profits are possible, it is pointed out.

"Buying is brisk on San Fernando road," is the report from every real estate office. The question might be asked, why is this so? The answer is, according to consensus of expert realty opinion, because shrewd buyers recognize the peculiarly advantageous strategic position of this road, with respect to Los Angeles and the San Fernando valley.

Provides Direct Outlet
San Fernando road is the direct outlet to metropolitan markets and the Pacific, from scores of industrial and production centers; it combines industrial, trade and business advantages with the buying and advertising power of a much-traveled highway; it is located between Brand boulevard and the southern Pacific tracks, thus serving industrial, business and residence purposes; and, though one of the oldest roads in America, it is only 15 years ago as the "Road of the Missions," it has grown steadily younger and more active with each passing year until today, in its incoming maturity, it is a glorious road of the future.

"Try to mix them, and you ruin both. Move Main street over to Broadway in Los Angeles, and you would kill them. Likewise with Brand boulevard and San Fernando road, Glendale. They aren't interchangeable. Each has its necessary function. Some people don't understand this, but some of those who do are heavy buyers of San Fernando road frontage, right now!"

L. H. Wilson, prominent realtor, and more than any other man, it is generally conceded, responsible for the recent development of San Fernando road, has this to say for the highway he has fostered and nurtured until it has come to its maturity:

"I believe in this road. I have studied it and I have invested largely in it. The northeast corner of the San Fernando road and Windsor road sold three years ago for $1,400. It sold last week for $20,000. Get that straight, I said $20,000! And get this, that the new owner's price is $30,000!"

"This is not an isolated instance. There are dozens. San Fernando road is developing leaps and bounds, and for good reasons. Two years ago it was merely a highway. Today it is the leading boulevard of Southern California—and that means the leading boulevard of the world!"

J. R. THORPE IS READY TO OPEN OAKMONT SADDLE STABLES

Fine Horses Will Be At Disposal Of Members Of Country Club At Sparr Heights

Secures Blooded Stock for Riders; Arranges All Modern Conveniences and Places Prominent Trackmen In Charge

WHEN the Oakmont Country club at Sparr Heights opens its doors early in October, the Oakmont Saddle Stables, just a stone's throw above, at Montrose, will put at the disposal of members and guests as fine a string of blooded horses as are to be found in the Southwest.

J. R. Thorpe, proprietor of the stables and a charter member of the Oakmont Country club, has been a horseman all his life, but is best known as president of the Thorpe Engraving Company, Los Angeles, and vice-president of Wheeler's Hot Springs resort in Ventura county.

A year ago he bought three-quarters of an acre of land at the corner of Ocean View avenue and Waltonia drive, Montrose. There, looking out over Sparr Heights and across Verdugo Woodlands and Glendale to Los Angeles and the Pacific, he and Mrs. Thorpe built themselves a home, and at the rear the nucleus of the present stables.

Three months ago, visioning the need for riding facilities when the club opened up this fall, they conceived the idea of the Oakmont Saddle Stables; and, after investigating and finding the idea practicable, they at once set to work to develop it.

Builds Fine Stable
The result is that a fine, big stable has been built, with accommodations for seventeen horses. Eight stalls are at present occupied, and more blooded stock is being lined up right along. In all, Mr. Thorpe has traveled 4,000 miles in the last three months, in search of material for his high-class riding string he is acquiring. In addition to the large main barn, the Oakmont Saddle Stables comprise a small office, an enclosed paddock, a horse hospital, and upstairs a screened-in porch commanding a wonderful view of the foothills and the valley, a women's dressing room with all facilities and comforts, including lounges, this room completely enclosed in glass, while ample parking space for motor cars is provided on a special section of the spacious premises.

The eight horses now in the stalls are all exceptionally fine animals. One of them, King Midas, won second prize at the California Horse Show last year and is a ten-year-old Kentucky thoroughbred. Another, Red Bud, a fine seven-year-old, won the Cheyenne sweepstakes in 1921. King Tut, a great chestnut-roan, is a splendid example of the English type of horse breeding, while Nig, a beautiful twelve-year-old "high-schooled" animal, answers "yes" and "no," picks up a handkerchief from the ground and hands it to Mr. Thorpe, and tells how old he is by scratching his right front foot.

Trained By Woman
Nig is said to be the smoothest single-footer in the stables and is the particular pet of Mrs. Thorpe, who has had him for five years and has trained him to do the many delightful tricks he loves to perform.

Another very vital adjunct to the string is Felix Von Vatenburg, a nine-months-old police dog, of the same family as Stronheart and valued in excess of $1,000. Felix loves these spirited animals and would fight to the last drop of his faithful blood to protect them from harm.

The personnel of the Oakmont Saddle Stables comprises Dan O'Keefe, an old race-track man, in charge of the horses; W. H. Kelley, another old trackman, in charge of the stables, and Dr. J. S. Whytock, a veterinarian, of Glendale, commissioned to keep Mr. Thorpe's string in the pink of condition.

Shipments of saddles and bridles are constantly arriving from England. Mr. Thorpe states, that country excelling in leather goods. And more horses are continually being sought, three new ones arriving next week.

Three Distinct Lines
It is the aim of the stables to carry three distinct lines of horses—a number of good safe animals for children and inexperienced riders; several "three gait" horses for average riders, and a few "five gait" horses for experts who enjoy really spirited mounts.

Mr. Thorpe states that there are at the present time fifteen miles of bridle trails in and about the Oakmont Country Club property, and that seven additional miles will be opened up during the next year.

"Here we have scores of fine trails to ride," he says. "You can take a canter every day for a month and not go over the same trail. Compare that with the three or four possible rides of forced in or about any other country club in this part of the country."

Both Expert Riders
Mr. and Mrs. Thorpe are both expert riders, but realizing that many who might desire to discover these miles and miles of winding paths among the live oaks, leading into the very heart of the "green Verdugo hills," would not feel secure in a saddle without some lessons, they have arranged for instruction to be given in horsemanship, from the simplest riding of thoroughly safe animals to more difficult command of high-spirited mounts.

The enclosed paddock will be used for this purpose, and no rider will go out for a canter alone until he or she has been pronounced by an expert as being thoroughly competent to handle a horse.

In organizing the Oakmont Saddle Stables, Mr. Thorpe is utilizing his experience as vice-president of Wheeler's Hot Springs, where they have a string of forty horses at the disposal of the guests.

REALTY AMENDMENTS
The new real estate amendments will be effective August 16, 1923. On and after that date, the commissioner said, all new applicants for a broker's license will be required to take the qualification test, and also to furnish the $2,500 indemnity bond, as required by law. All brokers must have the words "Licensed Real Estate Broker" printed plainly, with their name, at their places of business. This law will be rigidly enforced, the department has ruled. Signs must be placed at offices, whether these offices be in apartment houses, homes, hotels or elsewhere. The law is quite strict on this point. Present holders of broker licenses will be compelled to pass the qualification test and give the bond, on and after January 1, 1924.

SETS NEW RECORD
The report of thirty-seven Southwest cities, including Los Angeles, shows a total of $158,985,093 in building operations for the first six months of 1923, as compared with $97,447,954 for the corresponding period of 1922, or a gain of over 60 per cent, which breaks all records.

MAKES ESTIMATE
California's petroleum reserve in the wells, estimated at 2,114,000,000 barrels, will all be above ground by 1940, according to the state oil supervisor.

GLENDALE TAKES LEAD IN CONSTRUCTION WORK PER FAMILY LAST SIX MONTHS

Even Los Angeles Is Behind, According to Official Figures; Prosperity Continues to Put Community In Front Rank

EVERY family in Glendale, on an average, did $500 worth of building within the January-June period of 1923. This figure is based on the $5,168,935 of permits issued during the six months just passed, an approximation of 10,000 four-member families being used as a basis for computation.

Even Los Angeles, which heads the list of southwest cities in building, for that period, with a proud total of $93,889,185 permits to her credit, is forced to take second place to Glendale, having done but $475 worth of building per four member family, in that time.

Long Beach comes third, with $375 per family; Pasadena is fourth, with $300; while of the five cities that led southern California in building permits issued for the first six months of the year, San Diego is forced to take the consolation prize, with only $225 worth of building per family.

GLENDALE ON WAY TO NEW WORLD'S RECORD

Should Glendale maintain its present building impetus for the balance of 1923, which Superintendent H. C. Vandewater of the municipal department prophesies it will do, not only will a total of $10,000,000 in building permits have been issued when the whistles blow next New Year's Eve, but a total average of $1000 per four-member family will have been expended on construction, in this city, during twelve consecutive months—a record perhaps never equaled in the history of any other municipality in the world.

Put in another way, the expenditure of $1000 each by 10,000 families—or the total expenditure of $10,000,000 in twelve months, by 40,000 people—would mean that the equivalent of 2500 $4000 homes were erected during the year of 1923, or in other words that provision was made for an increase of 10,000 in population.

NO BOOM, IT IS REAL CITY IN MAKING

Whatever pessimism exists regarding realty conditions in the Pacific Southwest, and particularly in Glendale, is rooted in ignorance of the facts. Those who have made it their business to fathom and analyze the true conditions back of this so-called "boom town," have found that it is not a boom town at all, but a city in the making, with definite laws operating in a normal, steady manner toward this end.

These people are optimists. They have examined into the facts—and the facts about Glendale look mighty good! "They look so good," is the way one property owner expressed it, "that when you put them before your eastern friends, they either hop right on a train and jazz out here to get some of this good land of ours while it's still available, or they write back facetious letters inquiring into the condition of your cranium!"

MEANS MORE THAN JUST MERE WORDS

When Glendale spends $5,168,935 on building in six months, taking fifth place in the list of Southwest cities, over that period, it means something more than just mere words. It means over five million dollars, in cold cash, invested in the development of this city, with the promise of unlimited millions more, back of it, to make it good, and the assurance of bankers and financial men in general, that here is a safe place for the employment of large capital.

For, where some of those millions are the aggregate of many families' little nest-eggs, invested in private homes, other millions represent the cash of large organizations and wealthy individuals, invested in public edifices and institutions of many kinds—churches, office buildings, banks, schools, theatres, hospitals, hotels, department stores and numerous other types of structures.

Every additional investment made in developing Glendale is extra collateral held by the property owners. Each dollar spent here makes each dollar previously spent the more secure. And, as the margin of protection rises, the margin of opportunity lowers. It can truly be said, there will never again be a time like the present, in Glendale real estate.

Revenue Collector Issues Statement To Taxpayers

The following statement is issued by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell, of the Sixth District of California:

To avoid penalty, returns and payment must be made on or before July 31, 1923, of the miscellaneous occupational taxes, the special tobacco manufacturers' tax, and the special tax on the use of boats, provided for by the Revenue Act of 1921.

Capital stock tax returns also must be made on or before July 31, payment being required within ten days after notice and demand by the Collector.

The Revenue Act provides that "every domestic corporation shall pay annually a special excise tax with respect to carrying on or doing business, equivalent to $1 for each $1000 or so much of the fair average value of its capital stock for the preceding year ending June 30 as is in excess of $5,000. In estimating the value of capital stock the surplus and undivided profits shall be included. Every foreign corporation shall pay annually a special excise tax with respect to carrying on or doing business in the United States, equivalent to $1 for each $1,000 of the average amount of capital employed in the transaction of its business in the United States during the preceding year ending June 30."

Every domestic corporation must make a return on Form 707 even though the law may indicate that it is exempt from tax. The question of exemption is one for determination by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. A foreign corporation is "carrying on or doing business" in the United States if it maintains an agent, or an office or warehouse in the United States, or in any other way enters the United States for the purposes of its business. Following are the miscellaneous occupational taxes: brokers, $50; pawnbrokers, $100; ship brokers, $50; customhouse brokers, $50; proprietors of theatres, museums and concert halls where a charge for admission is made, having a seating capacity of not more than 250, shall pay a tax of $50; having a seating capacity exceeding 250 and not exceeding 500, $100; having a seating capacity of more than 500 and not exceeding 1000, $150; having a seating capacity of more than 1000 and not exceeding 2500, $200; having a seating capacity of more than 2500, $250.

Circus proprietors are required to pay a tax of $100. Proprietors of other public exhibitions or shows, $15; proprietors of bowling alleys and billiard rooms are required to pay $10 for each alley or table; proprietors of shooting galleries, $20; proprietors of riding academies, $100. ## HOUSE PLANS FOR HOME PLANNERS

An Unusual Grace Of Roof Line Gives This Small House Charm

Ideal Arrangement for Both Artistic Beauty and Living Comfort Make This Design One That Is Well Worthy Of Your Careful Consideration

It is every man's privilege to live surrounded by beauty. It is the aim of the artist to make this possible by attracting attention to and conserving whatever is beautiful in form, color or thought. In architecture man finds it possible to assemble all that is beautiful in art and in nature. Therefore the home is not only the place where beauty is centered for the happiness and comfort of people, but it is also the center from which the ever enlarging horizon of nature and the arts can be viewed and appreciated.

Never in the history of America has there been such an imperative need of homes as today. In every part of this country and in every walk of life people are searching for plans and models for a home, seeking always to invest their money so that it will bring them in the return of a home. Some people have clear enough vision to create their own ideals, while others must have help before their needs can be worked out; some by happy accident quickly discover what they wish, others find it only after long and anxious search.

This little concrete house is a small one—just large enough for young people starting life together, or for the small family that has lived long enough to acquire that blessed realization of the comfort and joyousness of simple living in beautiful surroundings.

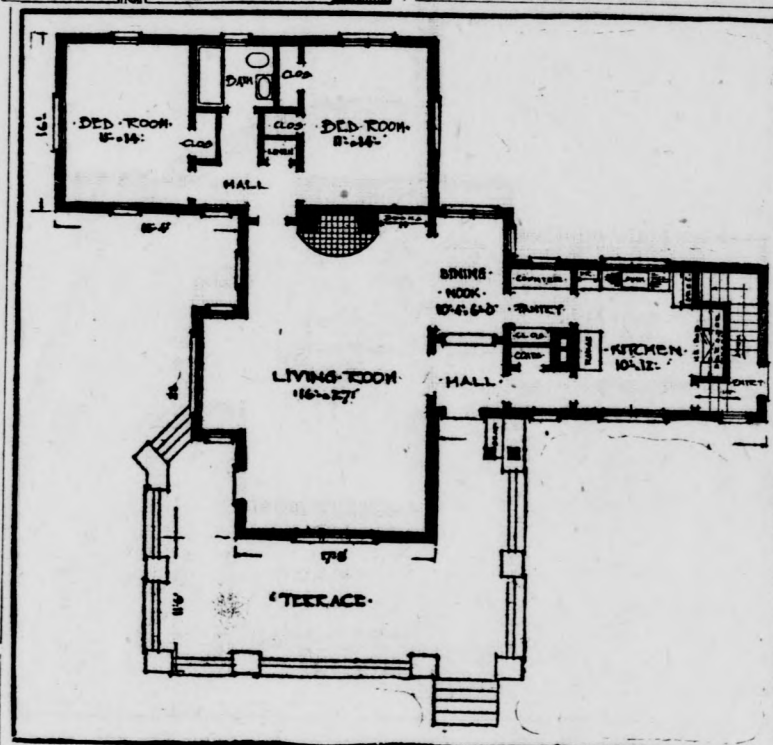

A well-designed small house doesn't look bleak and bare or yawn hungrily for furnishings. Every piece can be selected slowly and for its special fitness. There is no room for anything unnecessary.

So everything is an essential part of the whole, and the result is a lovely home.

The roof line of this design is a thing of grace. Seldom does the small house possess the happy inspiration of this deep, inviting terrace or the unusual charm of the great, curved living room windows. We think, perhaps, of this house in cement with rich, ivory tones and a gay green or scarlet roof, with vines and shrubs and flowers everywhere. We can see it nestling in a valley—halfway up a hill—or even standing perched on the summit. It is such an adaptable little house, that it would fit in anywhere. And, of course, other building material could be used if preferred to cement.

Since the problem of the servant in the house is now replaced by the perplexing question of the home without a servant, the kitchen in all of our houses is given most careful consideration. Housework can be made easy and pleasant. It is lack of equipment and failure to use common sense and scientific principles in planning so many kitchens that has given housework most of its unpleasant reputation. In managing a home and executing the every-day work, every woman will find the joy of creative effort, once the architect does his share in giving her a pleasant workshop.

In this special design the sink is under the window, where there is plenty of light and air. There is a long dresser near the icebox and another near the sink; a closet in the pantry and a long counter, which does much to make the preparation of food the two bedrooms. Both bedrooms have windows on two sides, insuring light and fresh-air circulation. And closets! There are six in this gem of a house.

A gem of a little house. Six closets, Mrs. Housewife, think of that. And only imagine the joy of such a living room with its fireplace and window seat. A house to want for one's own, you'll agree.

The house is almost 60 feet wide and the same in depth. This seems very large at first, but, if you will study the plan, you will see that this measurement is not extreme. It is from the outside wall of the kitchen to the same wall of the bedroom. Both of these rooms extend at an angle from the main living room.

Since the prices of material and labor vary so materially in different localities, we do not attempt to give an estimate as to cost, but suggest that you consult your local builder, who can give you detailed information as to your exact needs to be installed in this design. For information as to the procuring of the building plans of this design, No. 74, send a stamped and self-addressed envelope to the House Plan editor, in care of this paper.

easy. The dining nook leads from the pantry to the living room. It is one of those cozy little corners that gives an intimate air to the small dinner. For more formal dinners the living room may be utilized. The living room has a most inviting fireplace at one end, with a corner for books near by. There is an opportunity for a long, deep, comfortable window-seat in the side window, and the whole room is so spacious that there is none of the cramped sensation so often experienced in the small house.

Leading from the living room is a small hall, which separates the living quarters from the bedrooms, thus securing quiet and seclusion. The bath is between

PROTECT OWNERS IN ACACIA HILLS

Building Restrictions Are Explained by Promoter Of Subdivision

One of the members of the Acacia Hills syndicate has the following to say about building restrictions: "Glendale is the most rapidly growing city in the United States, and, as the demand for residential restrictions in all new tracts is universal, it is well to consider just what kind of restrictions actually restrict."

"Again and again persons have built homes in what they believed to be restricted districts in Los Angeles, and have had their belief confirmed by the language of their deeds, which prohibit the construction of apartment houses or business buildings, and have had the disappointment of seeing the aesthetic value of their property destroyed by the construction of some such edifice."

"That can never happen here in Acacia Hills, for, while our restrictions amply protect the home-builder, they are not prohibitive in their nature. We realize that a comparatively inexpensive house may be as great an adornment to a tract, by the excellence of its architecture and the taste displayed by its builder, as the most pretentious dwelling, and that such a house would not deter a millionaire from building his mansion adjacent to it."

Court's Decision
"We have been much interested in a test case that has just been decided by the Supreme Court after long litigation. The decision affirms the finding of the lower court that a building restriction incorporated in a deed must state clearly that such restriction is for the protection of all the property owners in the tract, or, in other words, that the public gets the benefit, and the mere implication that this is the fact does not constitute a real restriction which actually restricts."

"Our only object in creating restrictions in Acacia Hills is to preserve the character of the property as a distinctive residential tract, and is not an attempt to put a crimp in a man's own ideas, unless they are such that their realization would injure his neighbors; and, come to think about it, that is about the right definition of liberty, as we understand it in the good old U. S. A."

"It is strange, then, with so much liberty, most of us have so little freedom, for, believe me, there is a difference. The congestion of a city makes it impossible for people to live unhampered lives, but here in Acacia Hills, where the cool breezes blow and where the view is so lovely that one never tires of it, one may have freedom along with his liberty, and the proper proportion of these two things, combined with all of the modern conveniences and utilities that are now necessities and which home-builders in the tract have without extra cost, makes life something more than a routine of monotony."

GLENDALE GAINS

Glendale's $5,168,935 in building permits for the first six months of 1923 lacks less than $1,000,000 of being double the total for the corresponding period of 1922.

The above visualizes the upper portion of this wonderful property, with improvements, and some of the beautiful and exclusive homes that will be built. Note the winding drives and the bridge. The view from these homesites is unsurpassed anywhere.

BIG ADVANCE IN PRICE PREDICTED

Castle Heights Property to Increase In Value, Say Subdividers

Lots in Castle Heights, adjoining "Miradero," the castle estate of L. C. Brand, will soon be worth from $5000 to $10,000, according to E. D. Hamlin, of Hamlin & Hepburn, 203 West Broadway, subdividers of this slightly foothill property.

Today these lots—sized 50x165, 60x165 and 64x170 feet—are selling at prices ranging from $1750 to $4250, with terms of $500 cash and two per cent per month.

Restrictions on the property are given as from $5000 to $7500, while all improvements are paid for, including water, gas, electricity, curbs, gutters, sidewalks and the best macadam pavement.

The location is at Mountain street and Western avenue, one block above Tenth street and three blocks above the car line.

From Castle Heights a magnificent panoramic view is afforded, taking in Eagle Rock to the east, Lankershim to the west, the mountains in the background and the valley in the foreground, with green, restful Griffith park hills on the northwest horizon as a relief.

Mr. Hamlin urges prospective buyers to come out and look at the tract with their own eyes, at the earliest moment, while many of the most attractive lots are still available.

"Foothill property is commanding fabulous prices," he says.

Taxes on Amusement Admissions Growing

Tax paid on admissions to motion picture theatres and other places of amusement in the Southern California Internal Revenue District for the first six months of 1923, indicates an attendance during that period of approximately 100,000,000 persons, according to a statement made yesterday by Collector Rex B. Goodcell.

The survey shows that tax amounting to $1,603,646.79 was collected on admissions from January 1 to July 1, as against $1,362,111.19 for the corresponding period of 1922, representing an increase of over 18 per cent.

One feature of this report which was emphasized by Collector Goodcell was the fact that of the 100,000,000 persons who attended motion picture theatres and other places of amusement, 16,000,000 did not pay tax, owing to the provisions of the new Revenue Bill, which exempts admissions of 10 cents and less.

"People have come to realize that in the next five years most of the desirable property of this sort will be taken—and when it is once gone, it is like the oil that is now being taken out of the ground, there can be no more then."

"Now, this property is available at most reasonable prices. Tomorrow, there will be resale at big profits. And then—no more of this property will be on the market at any price."

Castle Heights is approached by driving out San Fernando or Kenneth road to Grand View avenue, up Grand View to Brand's castle, and then turning in at the tract office, on Mountain street, opposite Brand's golf course. Orange and black streamers identify the tract.

S. S. BERAN CO. FINISHES HOMES

Contractor and Family to Leave for Arrowhead to Enjoy Vacation

The S. S. Beran Company, building contractors, 305 South Brand boulevard, are just finishing a home for D. F. Richardson at 516 West Harvard street, and are giving possession the first of the week. The home they are building for Robert McKay at 1122 Green street will be completed about the same time.

S. S. Beran and family will leave Sunday morning, July 15, for Lake Arrowhead, where they will enjoy a ten-day vacation. Upon their return Mr. Beran will start on a new schedule of construction, putting up a number of fine homes by contract.

Cabin at Arrowhead

The Berans have their cabin at Lake Arrowhead and contemplate catching enough fish to give all their friends a treat.

The S. S. Beran Company are preparing plans and specifications for a sixteen-unit court for Peter Seifer, president of the Seifer Furniture Company. The court will be built on Doran street, west of Central avenue, and will have a stucco exterior, with the most modern interior available, in the same high grade of materials and workmanship throughout, combined with original ideas that have characterized the Beran company's construction in Glendale.

K. W. Scheele, of Swedish birth, discovered oxygen, it is claimed.

MOVIE STARS TO SHINE AT PICNIC

Invite Public to Barbecue And Entertainment at Glenoaks Tract

Free apricots for the picking, an old-fashioned barbecue picnic presided over by Fred Ramirez, "Barbecue King," a varied entertainment of yodelers, Spanish dancers, etc., together with scores of motion picture players and stars from the Vitaphone Studios to meet, dine and make merry with, is on the program for the gala event planned at Glenoaks, Sunday, July 15, to which the general public is invited.

The owners of this attractive Glendale subdivision, the Glenoaks Syndicate, are putting this entertainment on in appreciation of the splendid response made by the public in completely buying up the first unit in the short time it has been on the market. Sales representatives for the tract are the Frank Moline company.

Everything is entirely free. Visitors may come and stay all day, if they like. Hammock groves are there in plenty and fruit trees in the glen proper are loaded with apricots, waiting to be picked by whoever wishes to come and help themselves.

Will Serve Barbecue

At 1 p. m., sharp, Fred Ramirez, hailed throughout Southern California as the "Barbecue King," will start serving his famous barbecue spread to the many hundreds who are expected to be present. After the barbecue is over, a varied entertainment will be offered, including dancing by a troupe of Spanish Dancers and yodeling by the Swiss Duet Yodelers.

Players and stars from the Vitaphone Studios will be there, Cullen Landis, Wanda Hawley and Earl Williams, now playing in "Masters of Men," will be present. All the cast of "The Pioneer," which includes Cullen Landis, Otis Harlan, Miss Aggie Herring, Bertram Grassby, Dwight Crittenden and others.

Live oaks from Glenoaks are now being used in sets for "The Pioneer." Location men from the studios combed Southern California to secure trees of sufficient beauty and stature for use in the picture and found in Glenoaks a beauty spot near at home, where huge, attractive oaks abound in great plenty.

Everyone is invited to be present without cost or obligation to anyone. Information as to the prices of lots in the new unit now opening may be had at the tract office, but being present at the barbecue entails no obligation to anyone.

Close to Nature

The owners of the tract particularly invite those who have already purchased lots to come and bring their friends. Those who have not visited the tract will be glad to discover this attractive, scenic spot, for themselves, so close to town, yet so wild and close to nature that wild quail are there in plenty, while herds of deer frequently visit the construction camp.

For the information of those who wish to visit Glenoaks, the best way to get there is to drive out Verdugo Road about three blocks past the new Glendale High school, which is now building. A large sign indicates the direction of the tract.

It is pointed out that this is a good time for those who wish to enter the contest now being conducted by the Frank Moline company for the best description of the tract. $100 is being offered as the first prize for the best word-picture of 150 words or less.

SUBDIVIDERS TO STAGE BARBECUE

Fairway Tract on Michigan Avenue Will Be Scene Of Sunday Picnic

Jose Romero will serve a genuine old-time Spanish barbecue at Fairway, "the tract beautiful," Sunday, July 15. The feast will be entirely free, it is announced by the Saunders Real Estate Company, 138 North Brand boulevard, selling agents, representing the O. B. Thomas Company of Los Angeles, subdividers of Fairway, which is located just across Michigan avenue from the Flintridge Country Club.

This barbecue will be reminiscent of California's early days and will be on a very large scale, it is stated. Juicy, tender, young steer beef, steaming hot from the pits, will be served to the hundreds of people who will attend the special sales offering at Fairway on that day.

There, amid scenes of grandeur, surrounded by magnificent vistas and palatial homes, a unique day's outing will be enjoyed, with the hosts providing a rare old hospitality that sweeps back the generations to the days of the Spanish occupation.

Prices Are Low

"Those who attend this barbecue will have the opportunity to inspect some of the beautiful sixty-foot front lots in Fairway, selling for the sensationally low price of $700," says Mr. Saunders, "and will see with their own eyes similar lots in the immediate vicinity, worth thousands of dollars."

"Fairway prices are unique. It is inevitable that they should soon start rising rapidly. Now is the time to get acquainted with the best values in residential property that you will find anywhere on the market—and at the same time en-

TELLS BEAUTIES OF GRANDE VISTA

New Subdivision to Possess Many Features to Lure Home Seekers

Grande Vista, "the aristocrat of subdivisions," is only two minutes by motor from the Sunset Canyon Country Club, states H. N. Landon, 213 West Broadway, who is developing this choice foothill property into exclusive residence and villa sites.

The property, consisting of thirteen acres recently purchased by Mr. Landon from the Duff interests and Myrtle Baldwin, adjoins on the west the famous "Miradero" castle of L. C. Brand, president of the Title Guarantee & Trust Company, Los Angeles.

Facing either on main boulevards or winding paved streets, each lot in the tract offers the buyer of high-class foothill property some particular advantage of view or situation.

Ornamental Parkway

An ornamental parkway, lined with attractive trees and shrubbery, will run through the center of Grande Vista to Foothill drive, according to Mr. Landon, offering the whole tract unique advantages not to be obtained elsewhere, while restrictions of from $7,500 to $15,000 insure a superlative type of dwellings.

Improvements will include paved streets, curbs, sidewalks, water, gas and light, in addition to the parkway, which will be permanently maintained through a special fund.

"Lots in Grande Vista are being offered from $1,750 up," Mr. Landon says, "sizes ranging from 60x162½ feet to villa sites suitable for the largest estates."

"We aim to make this the finest subdivision possible to create. In a short time the tract will become one of the premier residence sections of the Southwest."

Bridge Over Canyon

"Among the many unusual features we are developing there is a joy a delightful old-fashioned feast of barbecued beef."

Fairway may be reached from Glendale by following the Verdugo road out to Michigan avenue and continuing east on Michigan avenue to the Flintridge Country Club, directly across from which lies the tract.

FIRE PROTECTION
DISTRICT ASKED

Chamber of Commerce Begins Move to Guard West End of Valley

One of the most important developments of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce meeting this week was the adoption of a resolution asking the county supervisors to form a fire protection district for the western end of the valley. A committee was appointed to investigate and determine boundaries and present the proposition to the proper authorities, consisting of J. H. Kautz, E. C. Carlson and Wallace M. Morgan.

The proposed foothill boulevard extension question was discussed and it was decided that provision should be made on the maps of the county regional planning commission for the boulevard along the north side of the valley from the Arroyo Seco to Big Tujunga Canyon. The committee appointed for this duty was Edward Foster, E. C. Carlson, J. O. B. Bodkin and Judge H. H. Breidt.

The transportation problem was again taken up. With the refusal of the Glendale-Montrose electric line officials to extend the line at this time and the failure of the sale of the bus line to parties who proposed to improve the equipment and service, no solution of this problem seems in sight.

May Improve Service
The Verdugo Hills Transportation Company, now operating the bus service, has some plan for reorganizing with a view to better service and a committee was appointed to study the matter. The members of the committee are E. C. Carlson, Edward Foster, J. H. Kautz, Wallace M. Morgan, J. O. B. Bodkin, L. H. Fisher and Judge H. H. Breidt.

The proposed purchase of the Rowley property at Sunland for enlarging Monte Vista park, as sponsored by the Sunland Chamber of Commerce, was unanimously endorsed by the meeting.

On a motion by Mr. Bodkin, who is a member of the standing committee on roads, the matter of the street improvement work, which will be requested to be done by the county road department during the present fiscal year, was made a special order of business for the next meeting to be held the second Tuesday in August.

Judge H. H. Breidt, president of the chamber, was selected to represent Tujunga on the committee from the associated Chambers of Commerce to confer with the board of freholders of Los Angeles while they are engaged in drafting the proposed new city charter. This committee will represent the interests of the outlying sections of the city and territory near the city which is liable to be annexed.

Ask For Exhibits
Anyone having products suitable for display at an exhibit at the Monroe Doctrine centennial exposition in Los Angeles is requested to see the secretary of the chamber, L. H. Fisher. Tujunga is to have an opportunity to display the valley products in the booth of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of San Fernando Valley and the opportunity is considered of great importance in bringing the valley to the attention of the public in general and the visiting tourists in particular. Funds are to be solicited to cover Tujunga's share of the expense connected with this exhibit.

As any addition to the present lighting system must be presented to the board of supervisors for approval by August 1, residents of the Tujunga street lighting district who want new street lights placed, or residents of contiguous territory, who would like to be included in the lighting district, are advised to communicate with Mr. Bodkin, chairman of the lighting committee.

Secretary L. H. Fisher offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Praise Glendale Firemen
Resolved, that the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce, on behalf of the residents and property owners of Tujunga, hereby tenders to Chief A. H. Lankford of the Glendale fire department, to Captains Dodsworth and Meyer, and to firemen Al Peasner, Dean Williams and Frank Kiefer, sincere thanks and appreciation for their prompt response to the fire alarm turned in from Tujunga last Sunday morning.

"We esteem it an act of courtesy and service strongly tending to knit the ties of friendship between the city of Glendale and the smaller communities of the Verdugo Hills."

This resolution was for the purpose of thanking the fire fighters for their trip to help in fighting the fire which destroyed the Tujunga restaurant early last Sunday morning. They made the run in record time, but were helpless to use their equipment as Tujunga is not supplied with fire hydrants. Records show that the trip was made in about fifteen minutes from the engine house.

The fire, which completely destroyed the restaurant and menaced adjoining buildings, is believed to have been of incendiary origin. Different statements of those first at the scene make it appear that the fire originated in a cellar under the rear of the building, used for storage purposes and which had an outside entrance.

The Lossnitz grocery store, fifteen feet west, was badly scorched and would have been a total loss but for the heroic and brainy work of the volunteers, who had nothing but a few lengths of garden hose to combat the blaze. Using a large garage door

Farmers Facing Ruin
How Markets Are Cornered
Motorcars Standardized
San Francisco Is Jealous
By Gil A. Cowan

MIDDLE western farmers, principally grain growers, are in hard straits this year, according to both news reports and personal account of conditions appearing in The Glendale Evening News this last week.

As a result of the crop markets going to pieces under the hammering of speculators, the farm hands are being "let out" and sent to the cities, where famine conditions may result next winter if someone doesn't harvest the wheat and corn.

The United States government should guarantee a minimum price to grain growers or put a stop to market gambling at once. The farmer should not suffer for his labor.

Senator Arthur Capper believes he has a "cure-all" when he tells the farmers to grow less wheat. That is a poor policy which has been discarded in all other lines of endeavor. Twenty years ago it was made a few years ago it was made more luxurious, do less work and get higher pay. Economically that theory is wrong, all wrong.

But Senator Capper, being in official position, might convince colleagues that farmers should be their wheat when it is sold. He also could arrange to have the government finance the growers to the extent of a dollar a bushel instead of permitting a group of money bandits to play with the produce in the "pit."

Suppose some multi-millionaire bought sufficient property in Glendale to throw lots on the market for $100. It wouldn't be long before many people would sell their $1,500 property for $600 and buy a half dozen of the $100 lots.

At the very minute the largest number of people were liquidating this rich man would withdraw his offer, buy up thousands of $1,500 lots for $600 and boost the price to $2,000. He would recoup his losses shortly, and while a few would win with him, thousands of others would have to pay him $1,400 profit.

That is a parallel to the game being played in the wheat pit at Chicago. It is rascally, rotten and ruinous.

Motorcar production on a large scale has brought an automobile of some sort within the reach of almost everyone. It depends on what care is taken of the machine and how much actual use it must endure as to whether it is a good investment.

Standardization of parts, low upkeep, the maximum of power, comfort and other qualities have entered into the manufacture of motorcars in recent years until it seems improvements are few and far between. In fact, we are so well satisfied with our car of 1922 vintage that the dealer claims he wishes he hadn't sold us the machine.

And that isn't all, either. When you begin to decide which automobile you are going to buy it is like three peas in a pod. Each and every one of them are equally good, it would seem. Compare the quality and price and shop around a month and you are still undecided.

However, by reading the Automobile magazine and scanning the advertisements you can get a good idea of specifications, general appearance and other things about motorcars which will serve you in good stead when it comes time to buy.

"San Francisco is a state of mind," says Harry Carr in the Times. "San Francisco imagines it has a past," he adds, telling how the story books made morbid old Barbary Coast famous.

That's the trouble with San Francisco. It hasn't anything but atmosphere—not even a good California climate. It is an occasional night when the town looks over the bay. And it is an occasional night when you can find a life in the town unless you go out to some roadhouse or dive.

Yet you can't tell a San Franciscan anything. He is of the same stripe as the New Yorker who believes the sun rises over Long Island and sets west of Yonkers.

For instance, he says this is the land of caterpillars. More high-class restaurants in Southern California than anywhere in the world, reports show. He claims we all come from Iowa. Ah, no, Illinois and New York state, with their Chicago and Manhattan, furnish most of the residents.

What hurts the San Franciscan is the fact that nine out of ten speak kindly of his city but refuse to live there.

sengers automobiles for hire are required to pay $10 for each such automobile having a seating capacity of more than two and not more than seven and $20 for each automobile having a seating capacity of more than seven.

With respect to the special tax (due in July) imposed upon the use of yachts, pleasure boats, power boats, sailing boats, and motor boats, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue has ruled that a vessel must be both over 5 tons net and at least 33 feet in length to be subject to such tax.

These boats are divided into three classes with respect to as a shield they worked their way between the buildings and saved the grocery store, with some damage to the stock by water, which was covered by insurance.

BURBANK
EXHIBIT BOOSTS
CITY INDUSTRIES

Commercial Advantages Are Featured in Globe at Monroe Exposition

Burbank's revolving globe at the Monroe Centennial Exposition, Exposition Park, Los Angeles, continues to attract a great deal of attention, and hundreds of samples have been given out by those in charge of the booth during the ten days the exposition has been in progress.

"A number of people have asked why the exhibit is purely industrial," states Tony Gage of the Burbank Realty Board. "The answer is we are making an effort to advertise this city as an ideal center for the location of large industries."

"Once we get the idea over to manufacturers that here in Burbank unusual advantages are found for the location and operation of plants, this city will grow like wildfire. It is not so necessary just now to advertise it as a home city. People know that, in good measure, and are learning of it daily in larger numbers. To grow, a city must offer employment to home-builders. That is what we aim to create in advertising Burbank's industrial advantages."

The following local firms have exhibits in the revolving globe in the Burbank booth: Moreland Truck Company, Jergen's Soap Company, Empire China Company, Genevieve Jackson Brannin Company, McKeon and Libby canning companies, and the proposed Plantep Company.

From now on during the remainder of the exposition some members of the Burbank Women's Club will be in the booth each day. It is announced, to assist the members of the realty board in meeting the public and answering questions.

And when Thursday, July 26, comes, everyone in the city will be at the exposition, for that is Burbank Day. The work of organizing the community to put over this idea big is now under way, and those who are concentrating their efforts in this direction wish residents to begin laying their plays so that they will be able to attend the exposition with the rest on that day, which will be a gala occasion in the history of the city.

Fifteen-Ton Girder Falls
Had anyone been unfortunate enough to be under the great fifteen-ton girder that broke from the derrick at the Sense building, the other day, and plunged to the ground with a mighty crash, there would have been a tragedy to report.

The building is under construction on San Fernando road west of Orange Grove avenue. The girder in question was about forty feet in length and designed to provide a span in front of the entire eastern front of the building, without supporting pillars.

The crash was caused by reason of the derrick employed in lifting this great mass of weight not being equal to the task. When a sturdier derrick was put on the job, the girder sailed aloft without difficulty and was finally anchored into place.

BRANCH OFFICE
IS OPENED HERE

Pacific Mutual Insurance Company Represented by
A. G. Van Slyke

The Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company, of Los Angeles and San Francisco, have opened an office in the Monarch building, 204 South Brand boulevard, and have appointed A. G. Van Slyke, who resides at 327 Salem street as their district manager.

Commenting on his appointment Mr. Van Slyke states that the company felt a branch should be opened in Glendale, to meet promptly the urgent demands on their accident and sickness department, in this city and throughout the San Fernando valley.

Referring to the insurance business, in which he has been engaged for the past twenty-five years, Mr. Van Slyke states that there has never been a time when this line of business has been better. The companies are prospering, he says, and the general public are coming more and more to appreciate their value and the protection offered by a good policy.

Mr. Van Slyke came to Glendale from New York, last winter after traveling throughout the United States, Canada and parts of South America. He finds this city of homes, churches and prosperity, he says, its excellent social and business environment making it a place of more opportunities for success than one could possibly anticipate.

CAN CANCEL PATENTS

As the result of a recent Supreme Court decision, the United States government can now cancel patents to twenty-one land tracts to which patents were said to have been secured illegally under the timber act.

length and a separate tax is provided for each class as follows: over 5 net tons and over 32 feet in length, $1 for each foot; over 5 tons, length over 50 feet and not over 100 feet, $2 for each foot; over 5 tons, length over 100 feet, $4 for each foot.

TELLS WORK OF
RELIEF BUREAU

Director of Division of L. A. County Department
Speaks to Club

D. F. McLaughlin of Los Angeles was the speaker yesterday noon in the banquet room of the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Kiwanis Club. He is director of the outdoor relief division of the Los Angeles County Department of Charities.

"Los Angeles and Southern California have invited the world," he remarked, "and about ninety per cent of its population has accepted the invitation."

Mr. McLaughlin asserted that indigent persons should not be criticized for coming to California, because in many cases abundant sunshine and fresh air, which they could not get elsewhere, prolong their lives. He stated that he had recently visited New York City after an absence of forty years and had found one section of the metropolis unchanged—the tenement district. He added that he would have liked to have been a wealthy Rockefeller to have been able to have loaded several thousand little folks, whom he saw playing in the gutters at midnight, into a vessel and brought them to California, where they might have a chance to acquire real health.

Crowd Institutions
Commenting on county agencies for the administration of charity, Mr. McLaughlin mentioned the county hospital, which has a capacity of 950 patients, and is obliged to accommodate 1,140 persons; the county farm, which has a capacity of 745 persons and now is obliged to shelter over 1,000; Olive View Tubercular Sanatorium, which has 100 beds and a waiting list of 300; and the county cemetery, which is overcrowded with a population of 14,000.

Appreciation of the generosity of taxpayers in recently voting an expenditure of $5,000,000 to relieve congested conditions at the three institutions mentioned was expressed by Mr. McLaughlin. He added that the vote approving the bond issue had greatly exceeded the necessary two-thirds.

The Outdoor Relief Division of the Department of Charities of Los Angeles county has as its object not the dealing out of doles to its charges, but the making of useful, self-supporting citizens. During the fiscal year ending June 30 it had contact with about 56,000 persons through 14,000 families. Of this number a new start was given to 8,700 families. It has daily contact with approximately 4,000 persons. This number is not regarded as excessive, large because the area of the county is 4,009 square miles. Therefore, there is only one indigent person per square mile.

Face Big Problem
The administration of charity in Los Angeles county is both economical and efficient, in the opinion of Mr. McLaughlin. Although approximately $840,000 was expended during the past fiscal year, the overhead cost amounted to only fifteen per cent. When he took charge of the department six years ago it had seventeen social workers in the field. It now has 102, most of whom are girls who have graduated from universities where they have had an opportunity to study social welfare work.

"It is a big problem to learn how to handle the human being," he remarked. "Some people imagine it is the easiest thing in the world, but it is difficult to take persons who are dependent, cheer them up and get them into something worth while. We think the best way to help people is to teach them to help themselves. Most people who come to us are not in need of financial aid so much as advice. It takes time to study each case. Every family has to be treated differently. We never pass anybody up; we find out what is the trouble and try to do something for them."

Two individual cases of which the department is quite proud were mentioned:

One was a dumb mute, an Eskimau by birth, who had been kicked about and placed in jail wherever he went, as a worthless vagabond. His case was studied and it was found that, although he had lost both hands in an accident, he had more than ordinary talent as an artist. He was given training along this line and is now self-supporting, prosperous and contented.

Born Without Hands
The other case was that of a young woman, who was born without hands. Through the use of typewrite and shorthand and soon became an expert stenographer. Then it was found that she was the possessor of an estate and had not been entitled to charity.

The movement to keep beggars and crippled mendicants off the streets of Los Angeles and other communities is making them surly, according to Mr. McLaughlin, because they have no place to go now to earn a living. Although he admitted that some of them had earned from $10 to $25 a day, he stated that there were two sides to the story. He mentioned the case of an armless beggar who stood for a number of years at one of the entrances to a big store. This man received about $25 a day in alms, but was obliged to employ an attendant.

The spirit of fellowship and optimism at the luncheon was contrasted with the tales of woe and misery which are constantly "percolating" through the county department of charities. Mr. McLaughlin commented upon the field of opportunity for charitable service possessed by the Kiwanis Club.
